

Viet Cong 'Suicide Squad' Attacks Saigon Embassy

Martial Law Proclaimed By President

SAIGON (AP) — A Viet Cong suicide squad perched under fire at the U.S. Embassy today while guerrillas affixed a mosaic of attacks throughout South Vietnam that was costing them 10 men dead for every allied soldier they killed. President Nguyen Van Thieu proclaimed martial law.

As darkness fell U.S. Army helicopter gunships raked Viet Cong troops trapped at the west end of the Tan Son Nhut airbase. Snipers were reported still firing on parts of the sprawling airbase, some of them only 200 yards away from the new "Pentagon East," U.S. military headquarters of Gen. William C. Westmoreland.

The Communists extended their coordinated lunar new year offensive across the country while concentrating against Saigon their biggest assault of the war on the South Vietnamese capital.

Parts of Saigon became a battleground.

Five Americans and 19 guerrillas were killed before U.S. forces regained control of the embassy compound, scene of the most spectacular in a series of raids in Saigon. Eleven Americans were wounded in the six-hour engagement there.

Gen. Westmoreland said he believed the enemy attacks were a diversionary effort "to take attention away from the northern part of the country." The threat there is a major offensive by North Vietnamese divisions, some already south of the demilitarized zone.

Thieu called on his people to remain calm. His proclamation of martial law means that the Saigon government will rule by decree until further notice, rather than under the constitution inaugurated last year. He ordered the closing of all places of entertainment but told his people "Our armed forces have held the situation under control since the very outset."

While peace appeared restored at the embassy, action continued in various parts of downtown Saigon 20 hours after the shelling of the city began, signaling the start of guerrilla action.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker said the attack in early morning darkness on the new $26 million embassy, hailed as terrorist-proof at its dedication last fall, "was obviously premeditated and planned well in advance."

It is equally clear that this attack was carefully coordinated with similar attacks elsewhere in the Saigon area and in other populated areas around the country," the 74-year-old diplomat added in a statement.

"This callous disregard of the announced truce for the traditional Tet new year holidays through acts of terror and assassination against the civil population of South Vietnam is an accompaniment to the invasion and open aggression of the Northern 1st Corps by North Vietnamese forces directed against South Vietnam. These acts speak for themselves in terms of the enemy's objectives against the people of South Vietnam, and their willingness to use the most inhumane methods to achieve them."

Doubts on Truces Bunker cast doubt on whether there would be further truces in the war. Asked by a newsmen whether the allies would ever again agree to a truce, he replied: "I think it is very problematical that we can."

The Viet Cong attacks broke their own proclaimed truce for the Tet period.

In a general appraisal of the situation, Bunker said "Certainly none of these attacks have been successful."

"I should think that there would be a great resentment on the part of the population," he said.

Conference Opens On Lake Michigan Antipollution Effort

Udall Promises Federal Action, Tells States to Take Own Steps

CHICAGO (AP) — Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall, convening a federal-state conference today demanded "action, specific, strong and coordinated action" to stop the pollution of Lake Michigan and save it from "an ugly, useless death."

Udall told the participating states—Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin—that the federal government would follow up the conference with enforceable antipollution recommendations and impose a definite time-table for them.

The states themselves, he said, should be no less vigorous in carrying out decisions of the conference and in financing the antipollution battle.

"I will make recommendations for pollution abatement action following the conference—directing positive, specific pollution abatement measures for industry and municipalities, including dates for completion of these measures," Udall said.

"The recommendations, following public hearings, will be enforceable in the courts, and I assure you that I shall be prompt to do my part to see the recommendations carried out."

Uniform Criteria

"Action from the states at this conference must include setting uniform criteria for lake quality and agreement on control measures to reach those quality measures," Udall said.

"Action from individual states after the conference," he said, "must include passage and enforcement of state laws to implement conference decisions."

Udall called the conference under authority granted him by the Federal Water Pollution Control Act to do so when requested by the governor of a state.

Udall cited the leadership of Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois and Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., both of whom requested the conference.

Udall said Lake Michigan was showing now the same symptoms seen 15 years ago by Lake Erie. Action on Lake Erie came too late, Udall said, and its purity can never be restored.

There is still time to restore the quality of Lake Michigan, he said, but the partial actions taken by previous conferences and by individual states, municipalities and the federal government are not enough.

"We must have a lake-wide prescription for a disease that affects the entire lake," Udall said.

Downgrades Importance of Pueblo Crisis

South Korea Opposes Any U.S. Plan To Trade Red Prisoners for Crewmen

SEOUL (AP) — South Korea's foreign minister asserted today that more attention should be paid to the Communist attempt to assassinate President Chung Hee Park than to North Korea's seizure of the USS Pueblo. His remarks were interpreted as an expression of government displeasure with U.S. handling of the current Korean crisis.

The South Korean government will "categorically oppose" any additional U.S. moves to emphasize the Pueblo case in efforts for an over-all settlement of the Korean situation, Foreign Minister Choi Kyu-hah told a news conference.

Choi said his government also will object to any direct bilateral talks between the United States and the North Koreans and to any proposal to exchange the Pueblo crewmen for North Korean infiltrators.

'Firm Measures'

"A basic settlement of the current crisis lies in taking firm measures to assure the security of the Republic of Korea and prevent recurrence of any provocative acts by the North Korean regime," he declared.

The ruling Democratic Republican Party and the opposition Shinmin Party put aside their political squabbles to provide bipartisan support for the Park Johnson in the crisis. The civic measures that might be considered in a special session and was expected to adopt resolutions asking need for any such proposals.

for decisive action against North Korea.

In Washington, the White House continued to put heavy stress on diplomatic efforts to free the Pueblo crewmen. Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said after breakfast Tuesday with President Johnson he got the impression Johnson was so hopeful of avoiding military action that there was no talk of a deadline for release of the men.

At the United Nations, a source familiar with U.S. views said he believed the United States would soon abandon its attempt through the United Nations to get the crew released. Security Council members reported no success in their efforts to break a U.S.-Soviet deadlock over an invitation to North Korea to join the council debate.

The most serious of many North Korean infiltrations in recent weeks was the invasion of Seoul Jan. 21 by a 31-man guerrilla squad under orders to kill President Park and other high officials. They were stopped half a mile from Park's residence. South Korean and American troops have so far killed 26 of the intruders and captured one.

Other developments in the Korean crisis included the resumption by North Korea of intrusion attempts in the American sector of the demilitarized zone, an angry anti-Communist rally in Seoul, and reports reaching Washington that one Pueblo crewman was dead but that the others were being properly treated by the Communists.

GIs of the 2nd U.S. Infantry Division repelled four separate intrusion attempts by small bands of North Koreans Tuesday and early this morning, a U.S. military spokesman said. No casualties were reported on either side.

The South Korean Defense Ministry reported that South Korean troops shot and killed the 26th member of the 31-man assassination squad early today about 25 miles north of Seoul.

Death Unconfirmed

In Seoul, 200,000 students and citizens burned a huge effigy of North Korean Premier Kim Il-sung and shouted "Down with Kim Il-sung." Three South Korean veterans of the Korean war slashed their fingers during the rally and wrote anti-Communist slogans in blood. Similar rallies were held in Taejeon, Kwangju and other towns across the nation.

But Paik Hang-ki, deputy chief of the foreign affairs section of the Federation of Korean Residents in Japan, did not say if his statement represented an official view. Paik, however, notified that North Korea has insisted that the United States apologize for the incident.

Paik told an interviewer he believed that the Pueblo's skipper, Cmdr. Lloyd Mark Bucher, may be an exception.

"The captain should be put on trial in accordance with the criminal laws of our country," he said.

Joe Muck, a volunteer fireman who lives nearby, was one of the first to the scene. He rushed to the man who was blown across the railroad tracks.

"I wiped blood away from his eyes so he could see," said Muck.

"He kept asking me how did I get here... How did I get here? I told him that's okay. I'll tell you later. I think he died in the hospital later."

Frank Sulzer, 23, of McKees Rocks, said: "I moved my car here? I told him that's okay. I'll tell you later. I think he died in the hospital later."

Carry Marines to Combat

Huge Navy Attack Vessel Is Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy plans to build nearly $1 billion worth of battleship-size amphibious assault vessels to carry Marines, helicopters and landing craft to combat areas, said Tuesday. The Navy will pick the winning design within four months, these sources said.

Although the exact configuration is still being ironed out, the amphibious assault ship would displace about 40,000 tons, extend about 700 feet and measure 100 feet or so across the beam—narrow enough to go through the Panama Canal.

By comparison, the battleship New Jersey, being reactivated for the Vietnam war, is 45,000 tons, 887 feet and 108 feet at the beam.

The LHA could carry at least a Marine battalion landing team of 1,800 men, their necessary supporting equipment, 30 or so helicopters, tanks, other vehicles and several landing boats.

Liner Elizabeth to Go On Sale in November
 LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Cunard steamship line official said Monday the Queen Elizabeth, sister ship of the Queen Mary, will be for sale in November. Lord Mancroft, deputy chairman of the Cunard line, told Newsweek the younger but larger Queen Elizabeth would be ready for retirement before the year's end. San Francisco city officials are reportedly vying with city officials in Acapulco, Mexico, Honolulu and cities in Japan and Australia to buy the ship. The Queen Mary was purchased last year by Long Beach Calif. and is being converted into a convention center, hotel and nautical museum.

Both Plan Appleton Visits

Nixon, Romney to Visit Valley

Former vice president Richard Nixon — considered the frontrunner for the Republican presidential nomination — will come to Appleton and the Fox Valley next week.

Nixon will be following the campaign trail of Gov. George Romney of Michigan, another GOP hopeful, who is scheduled to arrive in Oshkosh late Thursday night.

Both Nixon and Romney will be locking horns in the New Hampshire and Wisconsin primaries.

Nixon, hoping for a big win in Wisconsin to help shake off the "loser image," will arrive in Green Bay Monday afternoon, holding a press conference at the Beaumont Motor Inn, followed by TV interviews and a round of public appearances.

Jury Finds Both Drivers Negligent

Hortonville Couple Sought $18,000 After Auto Crash

Two women who were drivers involved in a traffic accident in Appleton Jan. 16 were found to be negligent in causing the mishap.

A 12-member Outagamie County Court Branch 3 jury, after hearing a day and a half of testimony, returned a verdict Tuesday afternoon ruling that Mrs. Gerald C. Young, 25, route 2, Hortonville, plaintiff in the action, was 40 per cent negligent and that Sharon Gretzinger, 19, 918½ W. Elsie St., was 60 per cent negligent.

Gerald C. Young and his wife brought the suit against Miss Gretzinger and her insurance carrier, State Farm Mutual Insurance Co. According to the court complaint filed June 15, the Youngs were seeking $18,000.

Driver Insured

Mrs. Young was injured in the afternoon accident at N. Bennett and W. Elsie Streets. Miss Gretzinger, driver of the second auto, was not injured.

The jury found that Mrs. Young was entitled to $1,000 for personal injuries, although since it was a split verdict, final settlement is in the hands of the court.

Judge Raymond P. Dohr, who heard the case, granted Mrs. Young $108 for loss of wages and allowed her husband $100 for the portion of car damages not covered by insurance, and $101 for drugs and medical expenses for his wife.

UW-GB Turns Attention to Meeting Scheduled Opening Date for School

Post-Crescent News Service

MADISON — While University of Wisconsin President Fred Harvey Harrington Tuesday hailed the state Supreme Court's decision knocking down Outagamie County's suit to block development of the UW-GB, state planners remained huddled over their desks pushing to get the school's doors open by September, 1969.

Harrington said the decision confirmed his belief that the campus can be opened on schedule a year and a half from now.

"Obviously, we at the university are pleased about the court's decision," Harrington added. "We are pleased not only that the court decided in this way but also at the strong support we received in Northeastern Wisconsin throughout the litigation. We can now develop a university that will serve the entire region, including the Appleton area."

Harrington noted that the UW owes a special debt to the State Building Commission for releasing funds and pushing development while faced with the suit, which was still pending.

While Harrington said the school can be opened by the deadline, state planners continued their efforts to find ways suit. A determination of the possible roadblocks, which could spring up in the construction process.

Mayors to Map Presentation to Tarr Task Force

Buckley to Attend Alliance of Cities Parley at Racine

Mayor George Buckley of Appleton and other Fox Valley mayors will meet at Racine Feb. 17 when the Alliance of Cities maps plans for an April appearance before the Tarr Task Force.

The 30-member Alliance, miffed at the inaction of the 1st session of the State Legislature when it came to acting on proposals submitted by the cities, intends to present its case to the task force.

It is headed by Dr. Curtis Tarr, president of Lawrence University, and has been delegated by the Legislature to study local government and financing in Wisconsin.

Buckley said today he received notice of the Alliance meeting for Mayor Otto Pestge of Madison, president of the group which represents the state's larger cities with an aggregate population of more than 2 million persons.

Strong Presentation

"I expect to receive a copy of the Racine meeting agenda from Mayor Robert Rand of Manitowoc," Buckley said. Rand is Alliance secretary.

Buckley said he intends to have the Alliance make "a strong presentation" in hopes of getting the State Legislature to streamline annexation laws.

"The cities have been handcuffed by these antiquated laws for many, many years and as a result Appleton is among those really suffering," Buckley declared.

Buckley said revision of existing annexation laws would not cost the state any money, and felt the time had come for the Legislature to act.

Revenues Rechanneled

He said this represented the sentiments of other mayors and city officials in the Fox Cities region.

Mayors have repeatedly charged the Legislature with making shifts in revenues that normally were channeled to cities, thus causing property taxes to rise more than usual this year.

The Alliance will also press for revision of the state shared tax system when appearing before the Tarr Task Force at a Madison hearing slated for April 18 and 19.

Grass Fire Doused

Appleton firemen were summoned to Chicago and North Western Railway Co. right-of-way west of Perkins Street about 6:45 p.m. Tuesday to extinguish a grass fire that started while railroad employees were burning old ties. Firemen were at the scene an hour and a half.

Appleton Youth Found Ill in Locked Car

A 16-year-old Appleton boy was taken by ambulance to Appleton Memorial Hospital about 12:15 a.m. Tuesday after a policeman found him ill in his locked car in the 700 block of W. Hawes Avenue. He suffered an apparent epileptic seizure.

The patrolman became suspicious after he came onto the car with motor running and lights on. He saw the youth lying on the front seat. Although the doors were locked, the patrolman was able to get his hand through a side vent window.

The youth did not respond to police attempts to rouse him, and an ambulance then was summoned.

Judge Contest Top Race in County Ballot

Seventy-two candidates for Outagamie County offices, including four for Court Branch 2 judge, filed their nomination papers before the 5 p.m. Tuesday deadline.

There will be three March 5 primary elections, including one for judge and two for supervisory districts represented on the county board.

There will be 17 two-way contests for county board. Candidates are running for county board election without opposition in 28 of the 47 supervisory districts, including 12 of Appleton's 21 districts.

3 Women Seek Election

Three women are seeking election to the board. They are George Greisch of Appleton, who is running for county judge, and Joseph Wevers, route 1, Kaukauna, who is not seeking re-election to Dist. 37.

Greisch reportedly was circulating papers for re-election to the board, but he did not file.

Greisch will be involved in the four-way race for a judge to replace Gustave J. Keller, who reaches the mandatory retirement age of 70 in March.

Running in the primary will be Greisch; Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer, and Appleton attorneys Mark Catlin Jr. and Joseph Van Susteren.

Tipsy Visitor Stops at Jail, Stays There

The Outagamie County Jail is not the place to visit when you're intoxicated.

Lloyd H. Meredith, 56, who reportedly has no permanent Appleton address, came to the jail in a drunken condition about 5 p.m. Monday. He harassed the jailers demanding some money he claimed was due him from the Huber Law (day work release) officer.

Meredith was still causing trouble when Undersheriff Calvin L. Spice stepped off the jail elevator. He promptly ordered Meredith placed in a cell for public intoxication.

The Appleton man pleaded guilty Tuesday and was sent back to jail for another 30 days.

Three-Way Board Races

The three-way county board races featured in the March primary will be in Dist. 12, Hoolihan, Sanders and Conradt, and in Dist. 42, where Supv. Norman Austin, route 2, West DePere, will be opposed by Richard Peterson, also route 2, West DePere, and John Vanden Eng, route 1, Seymour.

Only two incumbent supervisors did not file. They are George Greisch of Appleton, who is running for county judge, and Joseph Wevers, route 1, Kaukauna, who is not seeking re-election to Dist. 37.

Greisch reportedly was circulating papers for re-election to the board, but he did not file.

Greisch will be involved in the four-way race for a judge to replace Gustave J. Keller, who reaches the mandatory retirement age of 70 in March.

Running in the primary will be Greisch; Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer, and Appleton attorneys Mark Catlin Jr. and Joseph Van Susteren.

Twin Cities Company Owns Rights

Appleton officials discovered to their surprise Tuesday that they may have to deal with the Neenah-Menasha Water Power Co. — a privately owned concern — in carrying out the city's Lake Winnebago water-tapping plans.

The new development came to light during a conference at city hall, following on the heels of the announcement that the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has awarded Appleton a $1.5 million grant for the $4.5 million water project.

Neenah-Menasha Water Power Co., according to Public Works Director Frank Keuler, controls the rights to excess water from the "Lake Winnebago pool" — namely the water not needed by the U.S. Corps of Engineers. It sells the water.

The firm reportedly is a counterpart of the Green Bay-Mississippi Canal Co., Appleton, which holds water rights affecting local firms along the Fox River and in the city's industrial flats.

Seek Permission

Keuler said the city intends to write a letter to officials of Neenah-Menasha Water Power Co. this week to seek permission to take water from the lake without any monetary considerations being involved.

"We are assuming they will take a favorable attitude," Keuler commented.

Roger A. Baird, secretary of the Kimberly Clark Corp., is president of the water power firm K. C. Jones, its secretary, has already been contacted on an informal basis.

Keuler said the amount of water Appleton intends to take from Lake Winnebago, which has an area of 137,000 acres of actual surface cover, would be insignificant.

To cite an example, Keuler said if the city operated at its projected 1990 maximum requirements of 25 million gallons per day, it would take 125 days of continual peak pumping to lower the lake level about an inch. Not taken into consideration is the element of rainfall and flowage of the Wolf River.

Plan Commission Firm Against Rezoning of Newberry Street Sector

Commercial Use Denied as Catlin Protest Is Squelched

Sharp words were exchanged Ald. Glen Thompson (13th) but the Appleton Plan Commission also repeated his strong opposition stuck to its decision Tuesday to any Newberry Street day that a large sector of rezoning Newberry Street in the 13th Ward should not be rezoned for commercial purposes.

Ald. Mark Catlin (7th) appeared before the group and said he could not conceive any reason why the area shouldn't be rezoned, claiming it will not be developed for residential purposes as now zoned.

Catlin's critical remarks on the position of the commission prompted City Planner Walter Rasmussen to refute Catlin's claims.

Bank President's View Truth in Lending Bill Needs Simplification

MADISON — The proposed truth and lending bill now being considered by Congress needs to be modified so the people can understand it and business can administer it, Douglas Graves, president of the National Manufacturers Bank, Neenah, told the Wisconsin Society of Farm Managers and Appraisers here Tuesday.

"All people want to know is if they can get the credit and they are not concerned about what interest they have to pay for it," he said in his morning talk to farm managers.

"There are real opportunities in financing agriculture and use of credit may tend to be closely related to the suppliers of goods and services, the farm managers who put these to work for a profit, the banker who has to furnish the money and the farmer who needs to borrow." All four groups have been hindering the proper extension of credit to agriculture, the banker continued.

UW-M Professor To Speak on Art At Lawrence

Simplified This morning he took issue with a Madison radio broadcast in which he was quoted as saying that the truth and lending bill was a "phony."

"I said, informally, that the proposed bill needs to be simplified, so the people who need to use it can understand it and the ones who need to administer it, also understand," he said.

Graves pointed out that bankers were in a position of strong influence in the agricultural community by the way in which they ration capital. "When a banker grants a loan for one purpose, he automatically limits the funds available for another. If changes are made by the four groups involved — the off-farm supplier of goods and services, the farmer, the farm managers and the bankers, the problem of getting goods and services into the hands of the

Holmes Opens Campaign for Re-Election

MENASHA — Mayor Kenneth Holmes made his first public appearance during his campaign for re-election Tuesday, reciting for the Neenah-Menasha Optimist Noon Club a list of deeds he says his administration accomplished to help local industry.

Holmes said that, shortly after taking office in April, 1966, he called on leaders of local industries and offered to help solve problems that might involve the city. "I felt their problems were the city's problems," said Holmes.

He listed such firms as Wisconsin Container Corp., Edge-water Paper Co., John Strange Paper Co. and Central Paper Co. among those he had called on.

Expansion of Wisconsin Container at its Sixth Street plant was accomplished with cooperation of the city, Holmes said. Similarly, action by the city helped clear the way for Edge-water expansion at its Garfield Avenue location.

Appleton Men Admit Public Intoxication

Two Appleton men were fined $35 and costs each, or sentenced to 16 days in jail after they pleaded guilty Monday to intoxication charges filed by Appleton police. Both men appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Douglas Leith, 25, 1130 W. Eighth St., was arrested about 11:35 p.m. Sunday at 1216 S. Oneida St.

Roland F. Tracy, 49, 220 E. College Ave., was arrested at the police station about 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

Refined Neenah Core Plan to be Presented

NEENAH — Ideally, what core extend? This will be recommended by a special subcommittee set up to study the boundaries under RACON's jurisdiction.

Thursday's session will be a major juncture in plans for upgrading the downtown district and should provide a look at the Neenah of just a few years hence.

Schellie, upon presenting traffic patterns and land use plans at the December RACON session, was asked to study possible positions for structures suggested by Real Estate Research Corp., the Chicago firm which completed an economic analysis of Neenah's downtown market.

Chester Bell, president of Johnson-Hills in Wisconsin Rapids, had been expected to attend Thursday's meeting but stated this morning he would be unable to come to Neenah.

One of the keys in downtown redevelopment is held by a new department store and Jandrey's, since its acquisition by Johnson-Hills, has been the focal point for new construction.

GI Recovering After Removal Of Live Shell

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ten days ago, Pfc. Robert J. Mussari, was crouched in a bunker near Khe Sanh, South Vietnam, when the fuse of an 82mm mortar shell lodged in his abdomen.

"There was no pain—just pressure," the 19-year-old Mussari recalled Tuesday from his bed at the Philadelphia Naval Hospital.

Corpsmen took Mussari into a bunker with sandbags around it and, in a tense operation illuminated by four flashlights, a doctor Lt. Edward Feldman, 26, of Forest Hills, N.Y., removed the fuse, which could have exploded at any minute.

Mussari was brought to the hospital here Tuesday and was greeted by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mussari, of Olyphant, Pa., and his girl friend, Sheryl Taylor, 18, also of Olyphant.

On his arrival at the hospital, Mussari said he would be willing to return to Vietnam or go even to Korea if hostilities erupted there.

"I'd do anything they want me to do," he said.

Backers of Mayor Form for Neenah Will Organize

NEENAH — Dr. Paul Whyte, Oshkosh, a vocal proponent of the mayor form of government, and a leader in recent moves to unseat Oshkosh's city manager, will be the principal speaker at the organizational meeting of the recently-formed Mayor's Council Committee.

Wilmoit Houpt, a former Neenah alderman who represented the Fourth Ward for 12 years before being defeated by Ald. Robert Frank in 1966, will head the committee along with Rufin Skiba, a local labor leader and mayor aspirant two years ago.

The session is set for 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Neenah-Menasha Labor Temple on Green Bay Road in Neenah.

The meeting is open to the public and the committee will seek active support from citizens interested in retaining the council-mayor system.

The showdown between the mayor and city manager forces will come at the April 2 general election when the voters will decide which form of local government they prefer for Neenah.

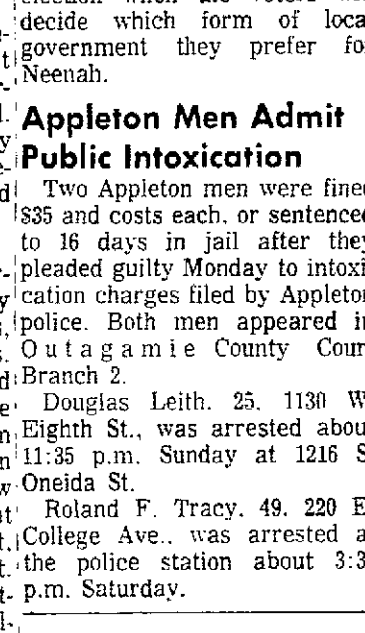

Driver Fined on Amended Charge

William J. Massonet, 23, 1102 W. Spencer St., Appleton, was fined $150 and costs or 80 days in jail Monday after he pleaded guilty to an amended charge of reckless driving.

Appleton police charged Massonet with driving under the influence of intoxicants after he was stopped on E. Newberry Street the night of Oct. 1. He pleaded innocent.

The reduced charge was asked in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Monday by Dennis Herrling, assistant city attorney.

Over 750 Students Dropped at WSU-O

Another 1,650 on Probation Because of Academic Problems

OSHKOSH — As second semester classes begin today at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh (WSU-O), 756 familiar faces on campus are missing. They belong to the students who were dropped from the university rolls at the end of the fall semester due to academic failure.

Another 1,650 students are on academic probation. They are being given this semester to pull their grade point averages above 2.0. If they are not successful, they will be dropped.

WSU-O registrar Dr. Donald D. Jorgenson said Tuesday that, among those dropped and placed on probation, the greatest number were freshmen with a smaller number of sophomores and a few upperclassmen.

Jorgenson also said that during the first semester 254 students withdrew voluntarily from the university for personal, medical or military service reasons.

Placed on Probation

WSU-O probation and retention policies require that a student who falls below a 2.0 grade point average be placed on probation for the following semester. If he performs unsatisfactorily again, he is usually dropped automatically and must stay out of the university for one semester. He is then eligible for re-admission under the condition of final probation.

If he fails a third time, he can not return to study for three academic years. Jorgenson described as "fairly typical" the number of students dropped or placed on probation.

He commented that the "liberal admission policy" at WSU-O may account for a number of students who enroll as freshmen but who are not strong enough academically to do university level work successfully.

Must Pass Test

Generally, any Wisconsin resident who graduates in the top three-fourths of his high school class and who passes the American College Test is eligible for admission to WSU-O.

Any student who is dropped for academic failure may appeal his case in writing to the coordinator of the university division in which he is enrolled. If the appeal is denied, the student may ask for a personal hearing before a faculty committee.

One more chance to reach a 2.0 grade point average for a semester's work is given to those whose appeals are granted.

A perfect grade point average at WSU-O is 4.0.

Blaze Kept To Bedroom By Firemen

NEENAH — Volunteer firemen kept a blaze in a Hunter's Point Road cottage in the Town of Neenah confined chiefly to a bedroom where the fire started late Tuesday night.

Raymond Wildhagen, Appleton, owner of the cottage and its occupant until recently, said he was uncertain what value to place on his loss, but said it was partially covered by insurance.

Fire Chief John Huebner, of the Towns of Neenah-Menasha Joint Fire Department, said the cause was also undetermined this morning.

He said the flames broke out among furniture and bedding in one of the single-story cottage's three bedrooms, where belongings had been placed to make room for remodeling the cottage.

Firemen were called by a neighbor at 11:30 p.m. The department's two trucks responded, with 26 men, and by 2:45 had returned to their headquarters.

The furniture and bedding were damaged, flames broke through the ceiling and scorched rafters, and burned through partitions dividing the room from others, according to the chief. He said there was considerable smoke damage, however, throughout the cottage.

"The problem of Appleton lowering the huge lake's level does not exist," Keuler added, "so it appears the Neenah-Menasha Water Power Co. will not be affected."

In addition to recommending that the Neenah-Menasha Water Power Co. be contacted "at the earliest possible date," the group also decided to apply for permission for:

—Laying a link of pipeline along a Town of Harrison road right-of-way, the road leading from State 114 to the lake intake site.

In addition, the city intends to expedite a few property acquisitions, following the condemnation route if necessary.

Possible Problems

And there will also be the matter of conferring with Town of Menasha officials concerning any possible problems which might arise out of pipeline crossing the town's sewer line right-of-way.

In the meantime, the city's financial consultants will make arrangements for floating a revenue bond issue and preparing a new water rate schedule, to be submitted to the Wisconsin Public Service Commission (PSC).

Two engineering firms working on the project will have plans for the plant addition and pipeline completed in the near future so they can be approved by the city council, which in turn will authorize advertising for bids.

The timetable calls for opening bids in early April, awarding contracts shortly after, and starting actual construction late this spring. It will take an estimated 18 months to two years to complete the entire water expansion project.

Federal Failure on Pollution Funds Is Criticized by Nelson

Senator Warns Lake Will Become 'Industrial-Municipal Cesspool'

Post-Crescent News Service
CHICAGO — Failure of the federal government to make good on authorized appropriations for pollution abatement was criticized here today by Wisconsin's Sen. Gaylord Nelson.

The cutback in anticipated funds, he indicated, will stall improvements to municipal facilities that are contributing substantially to Lake Michigan pollution.

Sen. Nelson's remarks were prepared for delivery at the opening session of the four-state Lake Michigan Pollution Conference called by Interior Secretary Stuart Udall.

"I am very disappointed with the Administration request for only $225 million for fiscal 1969 as the federal share of costs in construction of sewage treatment works."

He said an expenditure of $700 million had been authorized for the coming fiscal year. Last year, he noted, Congress appropriated only $203 million of a $450 million authorization under the Clean Waters Restoration Act.

"I was hopeful that the least we could get for this year would be the $450 million that was authorized for last year," Nelson commented.

Nelson Speaks
Wisconsin's junior senator, who had campaigned for two years for a Lake Michigan Pollution Conference, was the principal speaker this morning. Udall was to address the meeting later in the day.

Essentially a fact-finding procedure with enforcement powers on pollution affecting Lake Michigan, the conference was expected to run through Friday and possibly continue next Monday and Tuesday. It was indicated that more than 100 governmental and industrial representatives from Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan and Indiana will testify.

Wisconsin, in deference to alphabetical order, is listed last on the agenda.

Reports from 19 federal officials will precede testimony from the four states.

"Lake Michigan," Sen. Nelson told the conference, "is gravely threatened by pollution."

Now or Never
"And it is now or never. Either we respond with a great cooperative effort, or these waters will become a huge industrial-municipal cesspool."

Under recent federal legislation, all of the states were required to draft water quality standards for their interstate waters last year. The Wisconsin standards were approved last week by Udall.

"The state's standards will serve as guidelines to clean up many Pulp and Paper Company municipal and industrial pollution which are the most obvious sources of pollution in Lake Michigan," Sen. Nelson remarked.

There are, however, other types of pollution that are plaguing Lake Michigan. Some of these sources are difficult to pinpoint, but they must be controlled if we are going to reverse the tide of pollution now infiltrating the lake."

Points to Fox
He emphasized that tributary rivers must be considered by the conference in tackling the Lake Michigan problem.

"A case in point is the Fox River which flows into Green Bay in Wisconsin," he told the conference.

"A recent report showed that Green Bay was grossly polluted and that the source of a great deal of this pollution was the Fox River which is an intrastate river and thus was not covered by Wisconsin's interstate water quality standards."

No mention was made by the senator of the hearing conducted by Wisconsin's Division of Resource Development leading to establishment of standards for the Fox River and other intrastate waters. This oversight probably will be corrected by Freeman Holmer, DRD administrator, when he appears before the conference.

Kaukauna High Attempts to Form AFS Chapter

KAUKAUNA — High school juniors are attempting to organize an American Field Service Club to permit having foreign exchange students attend Kaukauna High.

Students from all grades are being asked to participate in the project and, if interested, can contact Linda Kettner or Mary Kay Klister. Arrangements are being made with the president of a similar club at Appleton to show slides and explain club activities. Also being invited is a former summer exchange student to Brazil.

Kaukauna has had foreign exchange students in previous years, but organizers of the club feel the program could be expanded through proper planning and promotion.

Works Board to Open Truck, Hot Mixer Bids

KAUKAUNA — The board of public works will meet at 6:30 p.m. Monday in the council chambers to open bids on a dump truck and hot mix paving machine.

Specifications for the 27,500 pound gross vehicle weight truck and a heavy duty bituminous hot mixer are available at the city clerk's office or from the director of public works. The board will recommend purchase to the common council.

Rewarding All-Star Event Historic Ford Theater Reopens With Fanfare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS, with a hungry hour to feed each Tuesday night with a news or public affairs program, tapped an unusual and rewarding source when it devoted this week's time to a report on the reopening of Ford's Theater in Washington.

The old building has served as everything from storage space to government offices during the "fiftiescore and three years" since it was the scene of the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln as he sat watching a comedy, "Our American Cousin."

Ford's has been restored to its mid-19th century form and decor as a small theater. The opening was pretty much an all-star occasion, both on the small stage and in the audience.

Rich in Variety
The entertainment for the blacktie audience was rich in a variety, ranging from modern dance to Civil War folk music.

Flag-Draped Box
Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey opened the inaugural program, and then such luminaries of the stage as Helen Hayes, Henry Fonda and Fredric March took over.

They told stories illustrating to a teacher's salary when employed in two or more districts — and a 10 month contract.

Lincoln wit. They recalled his great love for the theater, particularly for Shakespeare and for opera. Nina Foch read a scene from a favorite Shakespearean play. Harry Belafonte and Andy Williams sang. They were accompanied by the U.S. Marine Corps band.

All through the hour the camera kept returning to the empty, flag-draped box where on April 14, 1865, Lincoln was shot and from which John Wilkes Booth leaped onto the stage 10 feet below and escaped, to be captured a short time later.

The mood of the program—rather somber for all the references to Lincoln's humor—was such that some of the modern trappings of show business seemed wildly out of place. There was Miss Hayes trailing a wire that connected a concealed microphone. Belafonte and Williams clutched anachronistic hand microphones as they sang, and there were standing microphones around the stage. Ford's Theater, apparently, leaves something to be desired acoustically.

NBC, incidentally, will do something rather like that on Feb. 12 when it broadcasts an hour program culled from taping the opening of New York City's new Madison Square Garden the night before. The program will be a Bob Hope hour since he stars in the show, with plenty of help from Bing Crosby and Pearl Bailey.

First Full-Time Mayoral Race At Kaukauna

Gilbert Anderson, Russell Dix Vie For Top Post

KAUKAUNA — Races were assured for three city-wide offices, the school district offices and two ward aldermanic races as most candidates who took out nomination papers filed before the 5 p.m. deadline Tuesday, according to Karl E. Marzahl, city clerk.

Expected to attract most interest is the contest for the first full-time mayor in the city's history.

Gilbert Anderson, former alderman and a mayor for 1½ years, is being opposed by Russell Dix, employe of Thilserve as guidelines to clean up many Pulp and Paper Company municipal and industrial pollution which are the most obvious sources of pollution in Lake Michigan," Sen. Nelson remarked.

There are, however, other types of pollution that are plaguing Lake Michigan. Some of these sources are difficult to pinpoint, but they must be controlled if we are going to reverse the tide of pollution now infiltrating the lake."

Points to Fox
He emphasized that tributary rivers must be considered by the conference in tackling the Lake Michigan problem.

The pair had been ordered out of a local tavern, and when they refused to leave, police were called to get them out. They were taken to the police station and both were kept in jail overnight.

Arlin H. Blum, 28, 2500 W. Prospect Ave., Appleton, was charged with disorderly conduct, abusive language and destruction of public property; and Ronald W. Blum was charged with disorderly conduct.

Municipal Justice Nathan Wiese fined them each $25 and costs on the disorderly conduct charge. Arlin also was fined $50 on the abusive language charge and $25 for destruction of public property. He also paid $144 for damages to the city jail.

The President Can't Make It

The Appleton Professional Policemen's Association is again looking for a speaker for the banquet address at the state police convention here in May.

President Lyndon B. Johnson, can't make it.

Sgt. James Cotter, association president, revealed Monday that he had asked the President to speak before state delegates here the evening of May 20.

Cotter received a letter Monday from W. Marvin Watson, special assistant to the President, expressing "regrets" that Johnson will not be able to appear.

"Sorry" to All

The letter read as follows: "I have been asked to reply to your letter of Jan. 18 to the President, asking him to address the 35th Wisconsin Professional Police Association convention in Appleton, Monday, May 20.

The President appreciates your thinking of him, but must have me express his regrets. Aside from his crowded schedule, which would preclude his sending an acceptance to you, the President receives so many invitations from regional, state, and local organizations that he

New Officers Elected By Credit Union For County Employees

Members of the Outagamie County Employees' Credit Union elected three directors and one credit committee member at their 15th annual meeting Saturday.

June Braker and Maurice Dresang, Appleton, and Eleanor DeMert, Kaukauna, were elected to the board of directors for three-year terms. Kenneth Boyer, Appleton, will serve for three years on the credit committee.

President Milton Schinke and Treasurer Maurice Dresang reported that assets had increased 11 per cent in 1967 to $286,136. There are 444 members with shares totaling $266,167.

The credit committee report showed that 266 personal loans and two real estate loans totaling $154,145 were made in 1967. More than $250,000 has been loaned to members since the union was organized.

Shareholders were paid a 4 1/2 per cent dividend Dec. 1, and some interest was refunded to borrowers.

About 190 members attended the business meeting.

feels he has no recourse but to say "sorry" to them all since he cannot possibly accept each one.

Seek Dignitary

Please accept our best wishes for a most successful convention and our thanks for your thoughtfulness in writing, nevertheless."

Cotter says he and his fellow association members don't feel too badly, because they had the feeling the President probably wouldn't be able to attend.

Now, Cotter says, they'll seek some other national dignitary, perhaps from the Federal Bureau of Investigation (J. Edgar Hoover, maybe?) or a United States senator.

Some 400 policemen and their wives are expected here for the three-day conference. It is the first time the association has held its annual session here, Cotter said.

Woman Lives Briefly After Jumping Off Golden Gate Bridge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A young woman who leaped off the Golden Gate Bridge lived seven hours before she died at Letterman General Hospital.

She was identified as Virginia A. Hunt, 23 of Palo Alto.

A motorist Saturday night reported a young woman had climbed over the rail at midspan, and a Coast Guard cutter reached her only a few moments after she hit the water,

The Law and You

Measures to Protect Cyclists Enacted by Last Legislature

Can two motorcycles be driven side-by-side in the same traffic lane?

Yes, the law states. Motorcyclists are entitled to the full use of a traffic lane and no vehicle may be operated in such a manner as to deprive any other vehicle of the full use of a lane. And motorcycles may be operated (but not more than two abreast) in a single lane.

Several other regulations relating to motorcycles were adopted by the last legislature. One major change is that headlamps must be turned on whenever the cycle is in operation.

Protective headgear is now a must for any cycle driver or passenger. The headgear "shall be such as to provide a high level of protection at a reasonable cost to the consumer."

Eye protection is another new phase of the motorcycle legislation. The cycle operator must wear a protective face shield attached to the headgear or glasses or goggles. If the vehicle is equipped with a windshield which rises a minimum of 15 inches above the handlebar, the use of other eye protective devices is not mandatory.

The Highway Patrol reported.

She was the fourth person known to have made the leap and lived, even briefly. There have been 332 recorded suicides off the bridge.

Not more than two persons may be on a cycle while it is being operated and then only if the vehicle is equipped and designed with adequate seats and foot rests or pegs. Such foot rests and-or pegs are to be mounted in accordance with manufacturer's specifications. In the absence of such specifications, they are to be mounted on the same horizontal plane as those of the operator.

Other regulations prohibit: Riding side saddle; riding in front of the operator; driving a cycle with the handlebars rise more than 15 inches above the lowest point of the driver's seat when the seat is occupied; and driving without functioning muffler.

For those who rent, lease or loan a motorcycle they must be certain that the other party has the required protective headgear and eye protection for operating the cycle. Persons in the cycle renting business also must have clean, usable protective headgear for rent in sufficient quantity to care for the needs of all his customers.

Biafrans Determined To Keep Out Nigeria

Rebels Vow Fight Even If Cut Off

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Associated Press Writer

PORT HARCOURT, Biafra (AP) — The Biafran secessionists in eastern Nigeria are fighting with their backs to the wall. Their leader, Lt. Col. C. Odu-megwu Ojukwu, is determined to fight to the finish to keep federal troops out of Biafra's heart-land.

The army of the Nigerian government in Lagos, seeking to end the eastern region's eight-month secession, has cut off Biafra from all sides, but the bearded colonel is convinced he can hold out for three or four years if necessary.

The population is mobilized for total war. As more and more factories close for lack of raw materials, the workers are absorbed by Ojukwu's militia and trained for guerrilla war.

Use Machetes
When weapons are short, recruits use machetes or dummy rifles. Notices everywhere call for vigilance. A poster shows a steel-helmeted soldier with fixed bayonet. "This man is ready to meet the enemy. Are you?" asks the caption.

Other posters urge the 150,000 residents of Port Harcourt, Biafra's largest remaining city, to report any strange faces to the police.

Life goes on virtually as normal in the countryside. Only vading Moslem troops from northern Nigeria. A photograph of a headless, armless body is displayed throughout the country to show what Christian Biafrans might expect from northern soldiers.

Biafra's most popular television comedian, Aniyaogu Okonu, interrupts his routine to draw his finger across his throat from ear to ear as a warning of what will happen if the federals come—then goes back to his clowning.

There have been no telegraph, telephone or mail links with the outside world for six months. The only newspaper on sale at a newsstand in Biafra's biggest hotel is the German Frankfurter Allgemeine of June 20, 1967.

Currency Change
Biafran officials point with pride to their lightning currency conversion as proof of popular support for independence and the war effort.

When the federal government announced the withdrawal of all Nigerian currency by Jan. 22, Biafra quietly called in all the bills by Jan. 7, two weeks earlier.

The move was necessary to prevent the federal government from flooding Biafra with worthless currency. A notice warned Biafrans "Don't become poor overnight," but nothing was said on Biafra radio which is monitored in Lagos.

More than $200 million was deposited within two weeks. For nearly a month, coins were the only legal tender. Some Biafrans carried little sacks of coins tied to their belts.

Money Sold
Most of the old notes were sold cheaply in Switzerland and Lebanon, but at least some were smuggled into federal Nigeria.

Distribution of the new Biafran currency, printed in Switzerland, began Monday. Biafrans stood in line for hours to receive a maximum initial allocation of $56.

Biafra's first postage stamps, bearing the would-be nation's red, black and green flag centered by a golden rising sun, also went on sale for the first time Monday.

day he will not run against Johnson in any Democratic presidential primaries "under any foreseeable circumstances."

This still left the way clear for the New York senator to enter the race against Johnson if the President seeks his party's renomination as expected. But Kennedy's use of the term "foreseeable circumstances" indicated he feels there's little chance events will change his course.

McCarthy Bid
Some Kennedy backers have been pushing harder than ever recently for him to enter the primaries, especially since Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn.—a fellow Vietnam policy critic—appears to be making little headway in his bid for the presidential nomination.

Although Kennedy would not spell out any circumstances that might cause him to change his mind, it was indicated Vietnam war developments may hold the key to his future position.

A sudden cease-fire or opening of peace talks in Vietnam, some observers have reasoned, could spell political disaster for any would-be nominee critical of Johnson's policies.

Kennedy said he would "continue to speak out on issues that affect the United States."

President Excluded
Meanwhile some other Senate Democrats opposed to administration war policies are conspicuously excluding from attacks on war policies a President they expect to head the Democratic ticket in November.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has told friends his position this year when he seeks re-election is that everyone knows how he stands on Vietnam.

Fulbright said he sees no value in continuing to criticize the President's war policy on every occasion.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., similarly has toned down his criticism of the President over Vietnam although he maintains he is standing firm in his opposition to war policies.

Another war-policy critic, Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., told newsmen Tuesday his basic opposition remains unchanged after a visit to Vietnam.

But Clark, who has said he'll support Johnson for re-election, said he's optimistic the administration will find a way to scale down or end the war before the election.

Vietnam Foe Kennedy Doubts He Will Oppose Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy publicly rejects—at least for the time being—the idea of carrying his opposition to administration Vietnam policies into a head-on political battle with President Johnson.

Father James E. Groppi of Milwaukee, flanked by colleagues, talks to newsmen in Detroit Tuesday before a Civil Liberties Union address.

Rights Militant in Detroit

'Anti-Reds' Heckle Groppi

DETROIT (AP)—Three members of self-styled "anti-Communist" groups were arrested after being forcibly removed from a downtown Detroit auditorium Tuesday night as they escorted the three to jail. The inspector, Antonio Bertoni, said the three were charged with disturbing a public meeting.

Arrested were Lobsinger, Pat Tifer, a 21-year-old college student, head of Counterthrust, and Ed Kelly, Breakthrough's director of projects.

The three and their cohorts earlier were involved in a shoving and pushing match when they entered the carpeted auditorium foyer.

Lobsinger grabbed a photographer from the "underground press" and jiggled his camera, warning him not to take pictures.

In an interview, Lobsinger, who said he was a Catholic, called Father Groppi "an im-poster masquerading behind a Roman collar, posing as a disciple of Christ, and promoting the objectives of the enemy of Christ."

During Father Groppi's speech, police removed a box from a table in the foyer and turned it over to the bomb squad. It was found to be empty.

In his speech, Father Groppi told of his efforts to get open housing ordinances in Milwaukee. His group has sponsored open housing demonstrations in Milwaukee for 156 consecutive nights including Tuesday.

"One of the horrible things taking place in the nation is that we have taught black people to hate themselves. Black is good and beautiful. The white people are going to have to learn that, as well as black people," the priest said.

His name? Tom Frostman.

State police Maj. Bill Streub-ing, who is conducting the investigation, discounted Johnson's story Tuesday. After visiting the gravesite and poring over prison records, Streubing said he thought the graves probably were in a paupers cemetery.

"We don't know for sure, but in our own minds, we believe it is," he said.

He called off further digging until pathologists conclude tests on the bones already unearthed, and he indicated that his investigation would be conducted in secrecy even after the reports are in.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller told newsmen later in the day that he thought the information should be withheld because of the bad publicity it would bring the state.

He promised to make a "full and complete report" to the

Williamsburg Punch — Martha Washington Cake

Cranberry Heart Cake With Coconut Lace

Party It Up for February

Cherry Pudding

POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR
By Lillian Mackesy

February is an exciting month even with its sometimes ornery weather. There are more days for partying in this shortest month of the year than in any other. And this year, there's an extra excuse for having a bright and gay leap year party.

Beginning with Friday of this week, there's Groundhog Day which can become a wonderful day for an impromptu family supper party. The theme can be "Will he or Won't he see his Shadow?"

Then there are the two presidential birthdays which can be celebrated with patriotic spirit and the brightness of red, white and blue combinations. These two days, Lincoln Day and Washington's birthday, offer a fun sort of history lesson for the young fry, who will love every minute of it if there's a story or game added to the festivities.

Then, of course, there's the not-to-be-forgotten Valentine's Day with its sentimental slant, not to mention the opportunity for a Mardi Gras party at the opening of Lent. So mark up the February days on the calendar to make them red letter days. ... there's Feb. 2 — Feb. 12 for remembering Mr. Lincoln ... Feb. 14 for Valentine thoughts ... Feb. 22 for honoring the degree in home economics and Father of our country ... Feb. 27 for one last fling before Ash Wednesday and Lent ... then the bonus Feb. 29, which won't happen again for four more years.

For the birthday anniversary of the nation's two great presidents, set out the punch with all types of traditional punch, today adapted from the Williamsburg recipe of long ago. Serve with an equally famous cake, after the recipe of Martha Washington.

Then there's the recipe for Lincoln Gingerbread Loaf, long a popular spice cake ever since settlers' days. To give a bit of visual historical flavor, make miniature drum cakes for the young children in the family. They'll be delighted.

There'll be no mistaking the obvious when the Valentine shaped cake, trimmed with flaked coconut comes to the table on the appropriate day. just as the pancakes stuffed with lobster (for Pancake Tuesday) will make a tremendous hit for a Mardi Gras supper ... or even a surprise for Leap Year day.

Here they are, all recipes for February feasting and fun.

No snowmobiles were needed to get Appleton Junior Woman's Club members and guests to the Ski Lodge Party Saturday evening at Reetz's Supper Club. And once out of the area-fog, guests could imagine themselves anywhere they wanted to be.

Third Hand High Not Absolute

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

One of the first rules you learn for defensive play is "third hand high." The idea is to drive out a high card from the declarer's and or from the dummy, thus helping set up a high card for your partner. One of the exceptions to the rule is shown today.

South dealer

North-South vulnerable

NORTH		EAST
♠	Q J 10 3	♠	6 2
♥	A 10 5	♥	10 8 6

♣	8 4	♣	Q J 10 5

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	4 ♣	All Pass

Opening lead - ♥ 2

West opens the deuce of hearts, and declarer plays low from the dummy. If East follows the old rule, he plays the jack of hearts; and that loud noise you just heard was the defense collapsing.

South captures the jack of hearts with the king. Later he can lead a heart from his hand and win a finesse with dummy's ten. When this finesse wins, South is home. He can afford to lose one spade, one diamond and one club.

East can avoid this sad outcome by playing the eight of hearts at the first trick. This play of "third hand not so high" is good enough to drive out the king of hearts. Since South cannot avoid the loss of a heart trick he is down one.

Equally Necessary

East's deep finesse with the eight of hearts would be equally necessary if South had the queen of hearts instead of the king. After driving out South's queen with the eight, the defenders would be able to set up a heart trick with the jack and king. Not so if East played the jack at the first trick. South would win with the queen and would later win a finesse with dummy's ten.

Remember this defensive play when you have J-x-x (or more) behind A-10-x or K-10-x. Play your second-highest card rather than the jack as your best chance to develop a trick in the suit.

Daily Question

Partner opens with 1-NT (16-18 points), and the next player passes. You hold: S-K 7 4, H-Q 9 4 2, D-K 7 6 3, C-8 4. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention. This asks partner to show a 4-card (or longer) major suit. If he has such a suit. If he bids two hearts, you will raise to three hearts; otherwise, your next bid will be 2-NT.

Cleanliness Test For Employment

Clarence Price, personnel director of a manufacturing plant in Watts, California, never tests an applicant for aptitude or skills and never inquires about past employment records.

But Mr. Price, whose tolerance is almost boundless, does have a fetish for cleanliness. He occasionally hands an interviewee a bar of soap, telling him to use it and then return.

Meatless Meats Give Variety, Convenience

Meatless meats made from the soybean are on the market today in the form of a textured vegetable protein, according to Rosemary Stare, consumer marketing specialist at the University of Wisconsin, but won't replace the real thing.

This substance can be used as the "meat" in soups, patties, gravies, pizzas, camper food, ground meat dishes, health foods, and comes in chunk, granular, or strip form. It contains no waste and less than one per cent fat. It's dehydrated and will keep indefinitely without refrigeration.

Bacon Substitute

Another new food product is a bacon-type crumble that's used as a convenience food for hotels, restaurants, and institutions.

One bacon substitute that may be found at the grocery store, is a crispy item used as an ingredient in peanut butter. Also viewed on test market is meatless turkey and imitation ham.

A soybean protein powder can be used by food manufacturers to enrich existing food and as a main ingredient in new foods, such as "meal-in-a-glass breakfasts," dry soup mixes, dietetic foods, and instant high-protein beverages.

Even though these foods contain the same nutritional value as meat, milk, eggs or other animal protein, they probably will never replace beef steak on our tables. Instead of competing with natural meat, the substitutes can serve special dietary needs, add variety to menus, and satisfy those who for religious or other reasons eat no meat.

Hospitals, restaurants and the institutional trade may increase their use of meatless products because of preparation ease, nutrition, convenience and little waste. These new foods even may penetrate the retail market, not as a substitute for meat but as a completely new group of foods.

How Do You Rate as a Wife? - Asset or Liability

Do you light up your husband's life ... or darken his spirits? Would he rate you as an asset or liability? Here's a quick checklist of sometimes forgotten considerations that will tell you how to assess your assets as a spouse.

1. Do be smart! Samuel Johnson once said: "A man is in general better pleased when he has a good dinner upon his table, than when his wife talks Greek." But modern psychologists and educators tend to disagree with the opinionated Mr. Johnson, citing the many instances where men prefer and choose intelligent, educated women as wives, and take a chance on the cooking! The problems that can arise between two intelligent people may have prompted Mr. Johnson's observation — they can become competitors: two stars hugging one spotlight. A man always appreciates a sensitive ally — an active foe only echoes

Would Your Husband Rate you as an asset or a liability? Giving him gifts that please him, like cigars for birthdays, anniversaries, or your "special days" — gifts that show you respect his taste — instead of forcing him to accept madcap presents that appeal only to you, can be a good way to boost your score.

the pressure of the very competitive outside world.

Comfortable Aura

2. Are you gracious? Some women seem to be able to entertain everybody but their husbands. Creating a comfortable, warm aura is the finest art of the gracious hostess — and many women have this quality, but they turn it off when it is just a tired husband they are entertaining. It is quite rewarding to greet your husband (as if he were a guest) warmly at the door when he arrives tired from that proverbial hard

Gift of Love

3. How's your gift for love? Do you give him gifts that please — gifts that show you respect his taste — or do you force him to accept madcap presents that appeal only to you? Why not pull a switch next time your spouse returns home from a business trip by giving him, say, a box of fine cigars all wrapped up in love.

4. Is honesty always the best policy — or can a little "lie" go a long way toward cementing a happy relationship? Honesty is the best policy, but the truth can be manipulated, and many a white lie has saved a lot of heartache. There are times when "to tell the truth" is unnecessarily cruel. You should pick your moment of truth carefully, so as not to hit your man when he's down (really, is that the time to tell him he's too fat?)

Discuss Job

5. Would you take a job that paid more than your hubby's? Should you take a job at all? Much depends on you. Today's "weaker sex" is sometimes forced to work weekly (if not weekly) to raise a family properly and live the good old American life. Whether you work at a higher salary than your man is something you should discuss (if you haven't done it already) with him.

6. Ever wonder why the word "tongue" is feminine in Latin, Greek, Italian, Spanish, French and German? Maybe because we've all said a mouthful at the wrong time to our husbands. Too often we forget those ringing words of French writer Joseph Joubert: "The whisper of a beautiful woman can be heard farther than the loudest call of duty."

Look Feminine

7. Look feminine. The right clothing and fabrics can help you look the part, but don't forget to act it to the hilt. In public, steer the conversation to subjects on which hubby is an expert. Train the children to think he's boss (but not by saying, "Just wait till your father hears about this!"). Defer to him as often as possible on little issues. Help him feel very masculine indoors and outdoors. According to recent surveys among psychologists in the U.S. there is a consensus centering around and confirming the fact that a man who smokes a cigar is considered both elegant and mature, and, more important, the smoker considers himself thus, too!

8. Be prepared for emergencies. It is really no more trouble — and it is a good deal more efficient to cook double amount of your favorite dish. Then freeze half of it. This will save your aplomb if supper burns or if that man brings guests to dinner. Learn how to do simple home repair jobs, if you don't already know how. Another definite must for any housewife: learn first aid treatment.

Recall Courtship

9. Think often about your courtship days. Remember the way you used to hang on his every word, the compliment you paid him? It worked once — try it again!

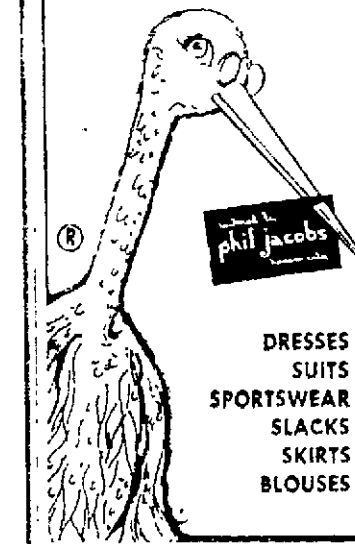

10. Be a homemaker — not just a housewife. Both you and your home will be more gracious if you learn the fine arts of running it. For instance: flower arranging, herb and wine cookery. Borrow time for these pleasant extras by streamlining routine chores: use those household hints you find in the papers. Cleanliness may be next to godliness, but don't roast the poor devil if he drops ashes or newspapers on the rugs.

Remember — it is so nice to have a man around the house in the final analysis, even though it may mean picking up after him.

Starts Pennsylvania Troupe

Former Dancer More Useful As Ballet Company Director

By JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP) — If you want to start a ballet company and, unlike most patronesses of the art, you don't have a bottomless bank account, you do what Barbara Weisberger does. You ask everybody for money.

For four or five years the blue-eyed, reddish-haired wife of a Wilkes-Barre, Pa., building contractor has chatted with women's groups, cajoled foundations and converted men to the ballet cause at their club meetings with her moving recitation of the sad plight of the dancers.

Successful Debut

All her efforts paid off Monday night when her young and robust Pennsylvania Ballet Company made its successful New York debut at the City Center. The audience reception would have sounded highly enthusiastic even without the busloads of partisan Philadelphians who came to cheer their team.

"This was a big step," says Mrs. Weisberger, "but if you her parents, Mr. and Mrs. want to get established as a Edward Larkee, 1537 E. Royal-first rank national company, ton St. Her fiancé is the son of you must come to New York. It Mrs. Reuben Duchow, 229 S. takes guts to do it But it was Eighth St. Hilbert, and the late going to happen sooner or later, and we're in the habit of doing Mr. Duchow.

National Tour

Next year the troupe, which this season is giving 14 performances at home in the Philadelphia Academy of Music, will go on a national tour.

Mrs. Weisberger, young-looking 40, is the mother of a teenage boy and girl who have no interest in dancing careers. When she was a youngster in Brooklyn she started studying at the School of American Ballet, then went to the Metropolitan Opera ballet company.

Older stagehands at the Met knocked down a huge hunk of scenery while backing offstage during a performance of "Aida."

Went to College

After she was high school valedictorian at 16, her family and at 26 opened her own school.

Haupt is with Thilmany Pulp & Paper Co., Kaukauna. A Sept. 14 wedding is planned.

Greek Princess Gives Birth To Third Child

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Princess Sophie of Greece, wife of Spanish Prince Juan Carlos, gave birth today to a boy. He is their third child.

The couple has two daughters—Elena, 4, and Cristina Frederica Victoria, 2 years.

They were married in Athens May 14, 1962. Princess Sophie is the eldest sister of King Constantine.

Prince Juan Carlos is a grandson of the last Spanish king, the late Alfonso XIII, and a son of the Count of Barcelona, pretender to the Spanish throne.

Juan Carlos is seen by many as Gen. Francisco Franco's choice for the throne if the monarchy is restored in Spain.

Franco was said to have been one of the first to extend the couple his congratulations.

Doctors said the baby and the mother were doing well.

Greece's Queen Mother Frederika and her daughter Princess Irene were at the Nuestra Señora del Loreto Clinic when the baby was born.

They have been vacationing with Princess Sophie here.

Dress Tips for Well-Dressed Man

If you can always park your hat on a flat surface, instead of suspending it from a hook, or from a hatrack, it will look better and give longer service. Long-faced men will look less than if they wear the wider ties now available in the stores.

You can get just as warm indoors in winter as you do outdoors in summer. So have detachable underarm shields sewn into your winter suits, too, to protect the linings. Never polish patent leather dress shoes, but the sides of the soles and heels need occasional attention. Use an old toothbrush to apply liquid polish.

cake with a toothpick. Fill in heart with a layer of cranberry-orange relish. Outline heart with coconut. Press remaining coconut into the sides of the cake. If desired, surround cake with lace paper doilies. Recipe makes eight to ten servings.

CHERRY PUDDING

- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup sifted cake flour
- 1½ teaspoons baking powder
- ½ cup milk
- ½ cup chopped nuts
- 2 cups tart pie cherries, drained (save liquid)
- ¼ cup packed brown sugar
- ¼ cup granulated sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1½ tablespoons cornstarch
- 2 drops red food coloring
- Whipped cream

Cream margarine or butter; add half-cup sugar and continue creaming until mixture is light and fluffy. Beat in vanilla.

Sift together flour and baking powder. Add alternately with milk to creamed mixture. Blend in chopped nuts. Spread cherries in bottom of 8x8x2-inch pan. Pour batter over cherries.

Add water to reserved cherry juice to make 1½ cups liquid; place in saucepan and heat to boiling point. Combine sugars, salt, cornstarch in bowl; pour in boiling juice. Blend and add coloring to desired shade. Pour over batter in pan. Bake in 350-degree oven 45 minutes. Cool to lukewarm. Spoon into serving dishes and serve with whipped cream. A sauce may be used for the pudding along with the cream, if desired.

CRANBERRY DRUM CAKES

- ½ cup water
- 2 eggs
- 1 can (8 ounces) jellied cranberry sauce, cut into ½-inch cubes
- 2 packages vanilla buttercream frosting mix

Prepare pound cake mix, adding water and eggs as directed on package. Grease jelly-roll pan and line it with foil. Pour in batter; sprinkle with cranberry sauce cubes. Bake in a 350-degree oven 20 to 25 minutes or until top is brown. Remove cake from pan then peel off foil and finish cooling on a rack.

Cut cake with cookie cutter into 28 2½-inch rounds. Prepare frosting mix as label directs. Remove one cup of the frosting and tint a deep red. Spread some white frosting between two rounds of cake and on sides and top. Repeat, using remaining cake rounds.

Put red frosting into a pastry bag and pipe a ring of frosting around top edge of each cake. Pipe diagonal lines around side of each cake to resemble drum strings. Serve each cake with two toothpicks topped with marshmallows for "drumsticks."

Hip Routines

Is all your weight in your off floor, keeping legs together, hips? If so, today's routines will forcefully contract buttock make short work of reduction muscles — hold for five counts. But if you are generally over-weight you will have to combine the routines with a bit of dieting in order to obtain ideal results.

Here's what you do hip-wise: 1. Lie back down on floor; bring knees to chest and clasp with hands. Now roll weight from far side to far side, across upper hip. Next come to erect sitting position with knees bent and soles of feet on floor. By swinging legs from side to side, roll weight across lower hip. Work up from two to five minutes.

2. Sit on a hard chair and square weight evenly on buttocks; raise feet several inches. You can diet until you become feather-light and still be hip-heavy. Reduction in the hips is assured only by exercise. For a set of quick and effective ones, send for my leaflet, Hip Reducing Routines. 3. A word to the wise: While awaiting the outcome, try to stand with the hips tucked away under the body. A woman who always stands so may not have small hips but she will not have a shelf in the back.

Your Problems

Writer Says Not All Doctors Paragons of Virtue, Errorless

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I malignancy. You as much as called the woman a liar. "California Yell For Help," the May I direct your attention to the word "reputable." I would not argue the point that the majority of physicians are reasonably honest, some are even highly principled, and a few are totally dedicated, but that still leaves a number of knife-hungry, money-hungry scoundrels. I know of no profession, however, that does such a conscientious job of policing its own members. Peer approval among physicians is of utmost importance. Medical organizations, county, state and national, are persistent and diligent in their fight against charlatans and quacks. Medical standards are constantly being elevated by Medical Audit Committees in the nation's hospitals. Additional safeguards are provided by tightening the requirements for hospital certification involving total patient care.

When one considers that before the Abraham Flexner report in 1910, "doctors" in some states were permitted to practice medicine by virtue of a certificate purchased for as little as $5, I say the medical profession has made enormous strides. All professions should do as well.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am being married in April and have asked five friends to be bridesmaids. One of the bridesmaids says it's stupid to spend $35 for a dress that she can copy for one third the price. She has announced that she is going to make her dress. I have seen some of the dresses she has whipped up on her sewing machine and they look very "homemade." Also, it's impossible to match fabrics and her dress is bound to look different from the others.

My mother suggests I tell her please me if he called me that if she can't afford to buy the dress I will understand and, excuse her from being in the wedding party.

This girl has been a good friend for 15 years and I want to keep her friendship. Help!!—Horrorsville

Dear H'ville: The dress costs $35. The girl said she can make one like it for one third the price. That means she would save $23 if she made the dress. Offer to pay the difference in the interest of "uniformity." Her friendship is worth $23, isn't it?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our daughter has been married for two years to a so-called Southern gentleman who is still calling me "Hey You." It would please me if he called me Mother or I'd gladly settle for "Mrs. —" or even Betty, but this "Hey You" is getting on my nerves.

I'd like to tell him in a subtle way to change his salutation. How should I do it?—Arkansas Transplant

Dear Transplant: Why be subtle with a lummoX? Tell him you've had enough of the "Hey You" and if he doesn't want to call you Betty, Mrs. — will do.

Is alcoholism a disease? How can the alcoholic be treated? Is there a cure? Read the booklet "Alcoholism — Hope and help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

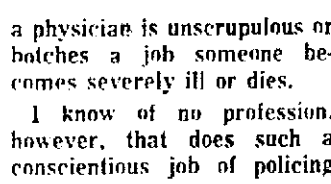

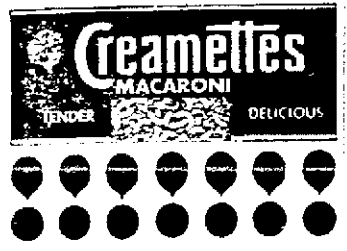

Ann Landers will be glad to help with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mumps Attack Any of Three Salivary Glands

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M. D.
Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter woke up one morning with swelling beneath the right side of her chin. Next day I took her to the doctor who said she had mumps of the sublingual gland which caused a hot spot under her tongue.
The next day she definitely had mumps on the left side. I have heard that with mumps you always have swelling by the ear. If so, what did she have first? — Mrs. G.K.

Dr. Molner

The mumps virus can attack any or all three of the separate sets of salivary glands: The parotid glands near the front of the ear, the sublingual, under the tongue, or the submaxillary, which can cause swelling below solved the same problem for given me a farbase ointment but never internal medicine — H.T.M.

A weak solution — 5 to 10 per cent — of formaldehyde will toughen the skin and often reduce excessive perspiration. For some people it may be irritating. In such a case, a 25 per cent solution of aluminum chloride may work.

I suppose you use foot powder. Daily sprinkling of it onto feet and into shoes will absorb a lot of moisture.

Dear Dr. Molner: Recently I read a news item about an internal medicine, griseofulvin, for skin disorders. Do you have years my mother has suffered for any information on this medicine? I have had skin trouble hands and arthritis and had her on lower arms only. Doctors have she was badly swollen and went to another doctor. Recently she has been told that she has very little arthritis and that the trouble in her hands was caused by pinched nerves in her spine.

Is it possible that a neurosurgeon might help her? Please don't say she'd have to try it to find out. I know you aren't a specialist, but they just don't have the money to take her 200 miles to a neurosurgeon unless there was hope and he could help her — J.S.

Keep in mind that it is possible that even rather mild, arthritic changes in the neck can cause symptoms in the arms and hands if the changes are such as to exert pressure on nerves. There are other causes.

As to seeing a neurosurgeon, I would be likely to be helpful. Have your mother ask him for his advice, in view of all the circumstances.

First Woman Seeks Post At Hilbert

HILBERT — In a surprise move the first woman in the village's history filed nomination papers for one of the three trustee posts being sought by male incumbents.

Mrs. Leander Roehrig, a housewife, took papers Saturday and filed them by Tuesday's 5 p.m. deadline. This is her first bid for public office.

She has been active in community affairs, serving on the village board's summer recreation committee, a member of St. Mary School Board of Education, past president of the high school Band Mother's Club, a member of the election board for seven years and is a Cub Scout den mother.

Also filing papers Tuesday were incumbents Vernon Schomburg, Arnold Albers, and Willard Franz.

Trial Scheduled on Bad Check Charge

Trial was set for Feb. 5 to St. Mary Hospital, Green Bay, for Patricia Schultz, 21, 717 N. Rankin St., who pleaded innocent of issuing a worthless $10 check Nov. 23 at one-ton truck, suffered injuries to his back, arms, and neck. He was not hospitalized.

Outagamie County police said that Calhoun was west-bound on 54, starting to pass the Romenesko truck, when the truck began a left turn, onto Moore Road.

The truck tipped onto its side and the entire left side of the 1967 auto was damaged. Police estimated damage at $1,800.

5 Candidates Seek 3 Kimberly Trustee Posts

KIMBERLY — Five candidates filed nomination papers for the three trustee posts to be filled in the April election, according to Mrs. Katherine Lochschmidt, clerk.

Incumbents filing were Donald Valentyne, John Gaffney and James Bergeron. Elmer Vander Velden, who formerly served almost 20 years on the village board, also filed as did George Subert, a newcomer to village politics. A sixth candidate who circulated papers, St. Mary School Board of Education Anthony Paque, decided not to file.

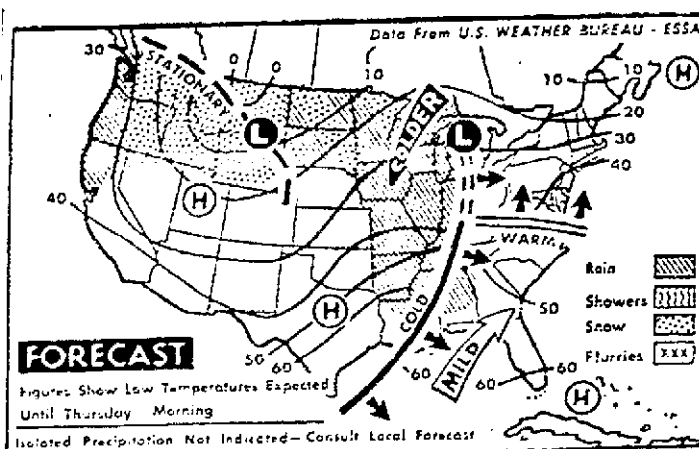

Two Injured in Car-Truck Crash

Green Bay and rural Appleton motorists were injured about noon Tuesday in a car-truck accident on State 54, and Moore Road, 5 miles east of Seymour.

Eugene Calhoun, 41, Green Bay, was taken by ambulance to St. Mary Hospital, Green Bay, for treatment of head injuries. Clem J. Romenesko, 56, route 3, Appleton, driver of a one-ton truck, suffered injuries to his back, arms, and neck. He was not hospitalized.

Outagamie County police said that Calhoun was west-bound on 54, starting to pass the Romenesko truck, when the truck began a left turn, onto Moore Road.

The truck tipped onto its side and the entire left side of the 1967 auto was damaged. Police estimated damage at $1,800.

Rain Is Forecast Tonight for part of the Pacific Coast and for the Mississippi River Valley. The northern Rockies region is expected to receive snow and snow flurries. (AP Wirephoto Map)

100 Names Required Sherwood to Repetition For City Incorporation

SHERWOOD — A new petition for the incorporation of the village will be circulated here beginning Monday by the five man citizen committee chosen at a public meeting last February.

Proposed boundaries including 608 acres were drawn up by the engineering firm of Foth and Porath, Green Bay. A new petition became necessary when a previous one was turned down by the state because it contained 874 acres, 234 square miles.

However, because A. J. Karelski, director of Local and Regional Planning, Madison, recommended "that a new petition be submitted for the proposed incorporation of the village of Sherwood that describes an area of approximately one square mile or less," no time lapse was necessary before a new application could be made.

Fifty signatures of elector-homeowners must be obtained from the 365 residents before the application can be re-submitted to Calumet County Circuit Court, then to the state planners. After approval by the state a referendum must be conducted before the area, located in the Town of Harrison, gains village status.

Theme Selected For Turnabout Dance at KHS

KAUKAUNA — "Sweetheart Tree" has been selected as the theme for the annual turnabout to get underway at 8 p.m. Saturday at Kaukauna High School.

The dance, sponsored by the staff of school publications, will be considered the traditional Valentine dance. This will be a girl-ask-boy affair in keeping with leap year and the turnabout theme.

Committee members are Dave Egan, Nancy Diffate, Mary DeBruin, Bonnie Borchardt, Anne Landreman, Margie Kuehn, Laurie Gertz, Linda Otte, Sue Donnermeyer, Ellen Spice and Barbara Wolf.

THE WORLD IN 1967

For still another year we are offering you a volume of "instant history" that may well become a classic.

Not just another yearbook, it is a big, handsome volume, profusely illustrated with action photographs and written, frequently by the men who reported the stories in the first place, as you were right there when the events took place.

If you have seen the previous volumes in this series, you doubtless have been impressed with their appearance and quality.

You will be still more impressed with this one. Containing 264 pages, it will be bigger than ever. There will be half again as many color plates, for a total of 60, as well as hundreds of photo reproductions in black and white.

All in all, it's a book that no student, no home library, no one interested in what's going on in the world should be without. And think what fascination it will have in future years for anyone born in 1967, or for anyone at all who has lived through this year of momentous news.

"The World" series is prepared for this and other member newspapers by The Associated Press, world's largest news gathering organization. To make sure that all important events of a year are included, the editors do not complete the manuscript until Jan. 1. Even so they manage somehow to have the book actually off the press the first week in February.

Make sure you get your copy by ordering now. The cost is only $3.50. Here is a coupon for your convenience.

Joint Returns Usually Save on Tax Payment

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Before filing your tax return on 1967 income here are points to remember about husbands and wives and those single individuals who get a lower tax if they can qualify as "head of household" or "surviving spouse." In almost all cases husbands and wives save by filing jointly instead of separately. To be sure, a return must be signed by both. Start from scratch: A husband filing a return gets a $600 exemption for himself, meaning that much off his income before what's left is taxable—if he was under 65 in 1967 or $1,200 if he was 65 or older—plus another $600 if he was blind.

(He gets a $600 exemption for each dependent he can claim but no extra exemption if a dependent was blind or over 65.) He can claim the same kind of exemptions for his wife as for himself if she files jointly with him. She can file jointly with him whether or not she had income of her own.

Wife's Exemption
He can claim the same exemptions for his wife if his wife fails to file jointly with him but had no income of her own and is not claimed as dependent by someone else.

Note: Even though a husband can claim all the proper exemptions for a wife who had no income, was not claimed by someone else and fails to file jointly with him, the tax on his income is higher than if she had made a joint return with him.

A wife who had $600 or more income would, like everyone else, have to file a return, either separately or jointly with her husband. She would claim her own exemptions on her own return. He could not claim any for her.

Tax Higher
Note: The tax on couples filing separately is generally higher than if they had made a joint return.

A wife with less than $600 income would not have to file a return. But if she had any income at all—no matter how much less than $600—her husband could claim no exemptions for her unless she filed jointly with him.

Note: Here's an example of how a couple would lose money if the wife had less than $600 income.

Little Chute Has Contest for Village Trustee
LITTLE CHUTE — All candidates for public office in the April election filed signed nomination papers prior to Tuesday's deadline, according to Gerald Lucy, clerk.

Four candidates are seeking the three trustee posts to be filled including incumbents Paul Hietpas, Clarence Lamers and Joseph Verstegen. Fourth man in the field is Donald DeGroot. Running without opposition for municipal justice is incumbent Raymond Sanders.

Senate Unanimous in Support of Clifford
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Tuesday confirmed unanimously the nomination of Clark M. Clifford to become secretary of defense, and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen called him a patriot who merits "the confidence and the trust" of the nation.

President Johnson's choice of the Washington lawyer, long a White House adviser, to succeed Robert S. McNamara at the Pentagon was approved on a voice vote, without dissent.

Divorcee Granted Use Of Her Maiden Name
Sharon L. Besaw, 23, Anchorage, Alaska, was granted her maiden name of Lamers when she was divorced recently from Terry L. Besaw, 26, 930 W. Brewster St.

The information on the court-approved name change was not included in the original story on the divorce.

come but failed to file jointly with her husband. Say she had $200 income.

The husband could not claim that $600 exemption for her or $1,200 if she was 65 or older—which he could have claimed if she had made a joint return with him.

Similar Deductions
And there's a rule on what married couples must do in taking deductions for personal expenses if they file separately: If one itemizes deductions, both must; if one uses the 10 per cent standard deduction, both must; and if one uses the minimum standard deduction, both must.

You were considered married for all of 1967 if you were married anytime last year, even as late as Dec. 31. You were considered divorced for the whole year if you were divorced anytime in 1967, even as late as Dec. 31.

You cannot claim any exemption for a divorced wife, or file a joint return with her, even though you paid more than half her support in 1967.

If you filed separate returns in 1965 or 1966, or in both years, and now think you would have saved by filing a joint return for those years, you can correct the mistake now by filing a joint return for 1965 and 1966.

"Surviving Spouse"
Certain widows and widowers get a lower tax rate if they can qualify as "surviving spouse." If your wife or husband died reporting any 1967 income the in 1967, you can generally claim deceased had, and using Tax

Social Security Has Major New Benefits

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Here, then, is a brief guide to a couple of weeks ago, a major new benefits provided by reader wrote me that his wife, the recent Social Security who had recently died from amendments, for which you multiple sclerosis, also had lost must go to the Social Security a full $10,000 in Social Security office promptly to apply: disability benefits to which neither of them had realized she was entitled.

His tragic story (which has nagged me ever since) inspires the question: which of the new Social Security-Medicare benefit increases and liberalizations will come to you automatically, and for which new benefits will you have to apply through your local Social Security office?

Porter

The big benefit increase, the boost of at least 13 per cent in the monthly Social Security check now being received by millions, will come automatically. It will appear in the check you will receive on or around March 2. You do not have to apply for this increase.

But in many cases, you will lose out, possibly on thousands of dollars in extra benefits, if you do not let the authorities know that you are eligible to receive them.

Here, then, is a brief guide to a couple of weeks ago, a major new benefits provided by reader wrote me that his wife, the recent Social Security who had recently died from amendments, for which you multiple sclerosis, also had lost must go to the Social Security a full $10,000 in Social Security office promptly to apply: disability benefits to which neither of them had realized she was entitled.

His tragic story (which has nagged me ever since) inspires the question: which of the new Social Security-Medicare benefit increases and liberalizations will come to you automatically, and for which new benefits will you have to apply through your local Social Security office?

— If you are a dependent husband or a dependent widow, you may be eligible for Social Security benefits beginning in March, if you have been receiving at least half of your support from your wife at the time your wife retired, became disabled, or died. Again, the rule about the new benefits to which you are eligible for new benefits.

— If you are a partially blind, aged 50 or over, you may be eligible for a new benefit payable in March. Until now, a widow with no young children in her care could not collect benefits until age 60 at the earliest.

Disabled Worker

— If you are a worker who became disabled before age 31 and who worked as little as half the time between 21 and the age you became disabled, (versus a minimum five-year total of work credits under the old law) you now should apply for the new benefits to which you are eligible for new benefits.

— If you are partially blind, aged 50 or over, you may be eligible for a new benefit payable in March. Until now, a widow with no young children in her care could not collect benefits until age 60 at the earliest.

200 or less, with glasses is considered totally blind. So is a person whose visual field is limited to 20 degrees in his better eye, with glasses.

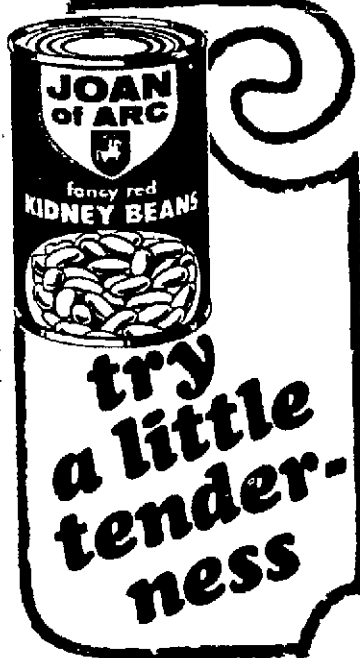

— If you are among the 1,100,000 Americans aged 65 or over who have not yet signed up for supplementary Medicare insurance covering doctor bills, you will have a second chance between now and April to sign up for this coverage.

All you have to do is fill out and return the application blank which is scheduled to come to you in the mail late in February or go to your nearest Social Security office and sign up.

ate football—quarterback Gary Beban of UCLA—was bypassed in the opening round and finally selected in the second round by the Los Angeles Rams. He was the 30th player picked, surprisingly low for a Heisman Trophy winner.

Two quarterbacks were picked ahead of Beban in the first round. They were Greg Landry of Massachusetts, selected by Detroit, and Eldridge Dickey of Tennessee A&I State, picked by Oakland.

Other first-round choices were:

Haven Moses, San Diego State end, selected by Buffalo; Jim Smith, Oregon defensive back, picked by Washington; MacArthur Lane, Utah State running back, picked by St. Louis; Forrest Blue, Auburn center, picked by San Francisco; Lee White Weber, State running back, picked by the New York Jets; James Hill, Texas A&I defensive back, picked by San Diego.

Maurice Moorman, Texas A&M guard, picked by Kansas City; Dennis Homan, Alabama end, picked by Dallas; Marvin Upshaw, Trinity, Tex. defensive end, picked by Cleveland; George Daney, Texas-El Paso guard, picked by Kansas City.

John Williams, Minnesota tackle, picked by Baltimore; Bill Lueck, Arizona guard, picked by Green Bay; and Doug Crusan, Indiana tackle, picked by Miami.

The teams used 3 hours, 35 minutes to complete the first round and 4:10 to finish the second, using most of the 15 minutes allowed between picks. The 7:45 for two rounds was somewhat faster than the 8:09 used last year.

There was a five-minute limit between picks in each round after the first two. That deadline remained in effect today and was expected to speed the final 12 rounds along.

Banks Signs For $65,000 On Birthday

CHICAGO (AP) — Ernie Banks, as lithe as a cowpoke, celebrated his 37th birthday by signing his 15th Chicago Cubs contract for a pay raise—reportedly bringing him to $65,000—and making his usual prediction of a National League pennant for the team.

Year after year, Mr. Cub has gushed his opinion that the club will take the championship—most of the time being the only person in the world doing so.

"We've never been facetious about it—I always meant it," said the steel-wristed, wasp-waisted first baseman Tuesday as birthday cake was served in signing ceremonies at Wrigley Field.

There were rumors that Ernie was finished after a mediocre 1966 campaign, but he fooled the critics—as well as Manager Leo Durocher—by rebounding for a great 1967 season.

Playing flawless first base, he was a driving force in the Cubs' third-place finish—the first time they made the first division since 1946.

Stockbridge Stages Upset

Hands Mishicot 71-61 Setback in Non-Loop Game

STOCKBRIDGE — Outscoring a highly regarded Mishicot team in every quarter, the Stockbridge High School Indians pulled a 71-61 upset here Tuesday night in a non-conference game.

Mishicot fell behind by four points at the end of the first quarter and never had the lead.

Tom Head played an outstanding game for Stockbridge as he and Green Bay West, are slated to be shown at the PAC meeting games in succession, breaking and goals by Claude Provost.

Mishicot to 29 points. Holmes at East High tonight. Bill open the race, and captured the Jean Beliveau and Yvan Cour.

In addition, Head scored 17 will give a chalk talk and men-over runner-up Detroit. This within four victories of the all-points and grabbed off 16 re-bers of the varsity cage team year, however, the Canadiens' time NHL string of 14 set by the 10-game winning string has givdarryl Bunnell, with 25 markers, and Hemauer added 13.

In boosting its record to 7-6 for the season, Stockbridge hit 44 per cent on field goals.

STOCKBRIDGE (18-15-16-22-71) Bunnell 9 7 3; Carney 4 0 3; Head 7 3 4; Hemauer 6 3 6; Propson 2 2 4; Mayer 0 0 0. Totals 28 15 17.

MISHICOT (14 13 15 19-61) Holmes 5 5 3; P. Holmes 12 5 3; Wachtel 3 0 3; Don Holmes 0 0 5; M. Weber 1 1 vision race—with little room to spare.

The Canadiens, unbeaten in 14 games since last Christmas three points and New York by night, reeled off their 10th five. The Rangers could create straight victory Tuesday night, a four-way deadlock for the se-blanking Toronto 3-0 behind 22-nd spot by beating the Black year-old goaltender Rogation Hawks tonight at New York.

Vachon stopped 19 shots on the way to his second shutout games in succession, breaking and goals by Claude Provost.

In 1944, Montreal won 10 the way to his second shutout place in the East just three weeks ago. They now lead Torono. Boston and Chicago by season. The Canadiens have allowed only 15 goals during the winning streak, which began with a 5-2 victory over New York Jan. 6.

Toronto has scored just one goal in four visits to Montreal this season.

Desire, Fierce Pride Key Athletic Success At Tiny Kohler High

By DWIGHT PELKIN
Of The Sheboygan Press

KOHLER (AP)—Kohler High School is lucky this year. It has more boys in school than girls. Eighty-seven of them.

When you have only 158 pupils in four grades, every boy counts. And of those 86 boys at Kohler, 69 of them go out for sports. The senior class has 15 boys. Twelve of them play on one team or another.

Talent isn't often wasted in this little school less than a dozen miles from Lake Michigan. Within the past year, Kohler

Stang Paces Ripon Frosh Past Vikings

Jeff Stang, former Little Nine Conference scoring star while at Omro High School, displayed a variety of shots as he led the Ripon College freshmen to a 102-94 victory over the Lawrence University frosh at Alexander Gym Tuesday night.

Hitting from all angles, Stang poured in 18 field goals and finished with 37 points to lead the scoring for both teams.

The Ripon yearlings have a 3-0 record, while the Vike Frosh have dropped three games to Midwest Conference foes.

Lawrence had a 53-44 lead at the half, but the Redmen poured in 58 markers in the last half.

John Van DeHey, of Kaukauna, topped the Vike frosh with 22 points, Jim Dyer added 21, Rich Farmer scored 20 and Rich DePersio added 17.

Al Eggert helped Stang for Ripon by scoring 25.

Landry Surprised Homan Wasn't Selected Sooner

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Dallas Cowboys Coach Tom Landry expressed surprise Tuesday that Alabama All-American Dennis Homan was still around for the Cowboys to pick in the first round of the pro football draft.

"I feel he will be a star," said Landry. "With his credentials, I don't see how he can miss."

Landry said Dallas had rated Homan above most of the 19 players selected ahead of him in the first round.

"I was surprised he was still there," Landry said. "What happened was that everybody was going for the big man. There was only one receiver (Haven Moses of San Diego State, picked by Buffalo) selected ahead of him."

successes over Shawano, Clintonville and New London.

In the initial encounter — at Kaukauna — the Ghosts got off to a runaway start (46-29) in the first half. The Papermakers hacked away at the Kaukauna lead in the final two periods and just missed catching up. They came within one point, 81-80, with 13 seconds left. Ron Vock's free throw, with two seconds left, put on the lid for the Ghosts.

Dick Carstens, Kaukauna center, came up with one of the top games of his career, scoring 38 points against Kimberly. Dennis Spice, the other half of the Ghosts' 1-2 punch, added 18 points.

Spice and Carstens hold the conference's only 20-or-more point averages to date. Spice, in nine games, is averaging 20.22, while Carstens (for eight games) has a 20.13 rate. Vock, with a 12.8 average, gives the Ken Vander Velden-coached Ghosts a third scorer among the league's top 11.

Balanced Scoring

The balanced scoring of Jack Wippich-coached Kimberly is paced by Jeff Wildenberg with a 14.4 average, and Don Hagany with 11.2. In the first Kaukauna game, Wildenberg tallied 19 points, and Jeff VandenHeuvel was next with 13.

Neenah will seek to repeat an earlier win (61-50) over Shawano. Dan Jankowski, the third leading scorer of the conference (with a 17.8 average) set a hot pace in the clash on the Indians' court, as he scored 20 points and grabbed 15 rebounds. Neenah's Lee Olson added 14 points, while Leon Penass was high for the Indians, with 19.

Menasha whipped Two Rivers, 63-50, the first time around, breaking open a close game with a 21-10 fourth-quarter edge. Tim Gressler and Ron Haack led the way, with 17 and 16 points, respectively. A win could go a long way toward assuring the Jays of a first-division finish.

Clintonville rolled past New London, 80-57, in the M-E's first round, as John Torborg scored 26 points and Terry Olsen came up with Greg Wing paced the Bulldogs, with 13.

Bart Starr Will Act In an Episode of 'Gentle Ben' Series

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Bart Starr, quarterback of the Green Bay Packers, will co-star with a 650-pound black bear in a television episode of the "Gentle Ben" series.

The Ivan Tors Studio said Tuesday Starr will play himself in a show to be filmed in April. The story will have Starr teaching the show's junior lead Clint Howard, the value of teamwork.

The studio said the episode was inspired by Starr's comment after Green Bay beat Dallas when the quarterback explained why he waited until the last few seconds before taking the ball over himself:

"I wanted to give the honor to a man who had been blocking for me all afternoon. It was a question of team work."

49ers Hire Meyer As Coaching Aide

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco 49ers announced Tuesday they had hired a new offensive backfield coach — Ken Meyer, who has been assisting Bear Bryant at the University of Alabama since 1963.

In San Francisco, he will assist new head coach Dick Nolan.

Meyer, a graduate of Denison University in Ohio, coached at Denison and at Wake Forest and Florida State before going to Alabama.

"He conceded, however, that size, good speed, good quickness realize we've got a lot of "just four" would be a windfall, and he pulls well. He rated as fulbacks, but now we've got our top offensive guard on our some chances to do something."

The 6-foot-3, 217-pound McCarthy gained 1,600 yards in 250 and, obviously, many quality athletes were gone by the time around 250 pounds also."

"Regardless of what our needs are, we had to take him. He was the number one athlete on our books. We just felt we couldn't pass him up."

"It's true that we have considerable strength at linebacker- Ray Nitschke, Dave Robinson, Lee Roy Caffey and Tommy (Crutcher) but we feel he's a great athlete and that he'll make our squad. He'll make our team somewhere."

"He has great speed — he's as fast as anyone on our squad with the possible exception of Travis Williams. He runs the 40- yard dash in 4.7 seconds in full- football gear, which means he's a great athlete and as fast as any of our backs."

The selection of Lueck, and later Himes, had been prompted by the inevitable inroads of age.

"We had some impressive reports on him and when he was still there in the third round," he explained, "we felt or a good pass blocker and a good straight ahead blocker. Little information was im- mediately available on Winkler, the Pack's own fifth round choice, but he is 6-foot-3 and weighs 230 pounds. The Packers were scheduled to make 13 more selections in today's final 12 rounds, the extra pick resulting from the trade which sent defensive half- back Dave Hathcock to the New York Giants last September."

The State of the Budget

While there were no particular surprises in President Johnson's proposed budget for the next fiscal year because of the summary he presented in the State of the Union message, the budget message Monday provided the tone which the White House will use in its difficult objective of trying to gain acceptance of the budget total and the 10 per cent income surtax.

The President now has clearly said the income tax increase is needed because of the war in Vietnam. And while the effort will not satisfy many in the election-year Congress, the President has said it is time to search for priorities in domestic spending because of the war.

The figures are clear enough. A budget appropriation of $26 billion is requested for the Vietnam war, though already congressmen like Rep. Melvin Laird who have been accurate in the past two years are saying the cost has been underestimated. The deficit without the income tax increase is estimated at $20 billion. With the income tax increase and with extension of automobile and telephone excise taxes at their current level, the President said the deficit can be held to $8 billion.

The President is to be commended for stating frankly that the war means a need for a great sum of new money, for agreeing with the search started in Congress last year for ways to reduce domestic spending,

Sen. Percy Stumbles

It must have been incomprehensible to many persons to learn recently that such an astute and promising young political leader as Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois, regarded by some admirers in his own state and elsewhere as of probable presidential stature, fell into the trap of organizing a special expense fund to be financed through the donations of friends and well-wishers.

The proposal was to raise a kitty of $100,000, mostly from Chicago area merchants and manufacturers, to cover the costs of holding his office that he felt could not be paid for through his salary and the various and generous emoluments of congressional office.

When the disclosure of the fund was made, the senator quickly changed his mind. He has said the solicitations have been ordered halted, that the idea has been abandoned, and that all of the contributions heretofore received will be returned, to the last dollar, to the original donors. That is good. It shows a certain courage and realism to admit an error of such dimensions.

But we find ourselves wondering, nevertheless, how this bright young man was cozened into such a scheme in the first instance. We find no justification for any public official accepting private funds with the excuse that his public compensation is

Secretary Gardner Resigns

When Abraham Ribicoff was Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, he said the agency was the "department of dirty water, dirty air and dirty looks." And it was probably something to do with the dirty looks that must accompany the cutbacks in HEW that prompted the capable John Gardner to resign as secretary last week.

Mr. Gardner and other officials have emphasized that the war in Vietnam had nothing to do with the resignation. But certainly the priorities in government these days must have influenced Mr. Gardner's decision. Only last month he commented in a speech, "We are in deep trouble as a people." And in 1960 in saying that he didn't believe that Americans had lost their traditions, he did concede that "something is wrong."

Probably more than anyone else in the Johnson Administration, Secretary Gardner recognized the immense problems involved in the crises in our cities. It was his business, it is true, but in his former position as head of the Carnegie Corporation he had initiated such studies as James Conant's investigation of United States education and research that led to the development of the new math. While his ability to administrate in HEW has been

Looking Backward
Crescent Berates Gov. Fairchild

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Jan. 18, 1868.

No doubt our pleasant friend, the Executive of this State, really imagines that he is truly loyal and patriotic citizen of the United States.

Nevertheless, we must be permitted to believe that the revengeful, vindictive and un-Christian spirit he indulges toward his "misguided Southern brethren," who happen to have a white skin, and to be as educated, refined and moral as himself, is all attributable to two circumstances, viz: the loss of an arm in battle, and his political fraternization with lean, lanternjawed, narrow-minded, bigoted, intolerant Puritanic Republicanism.

Gov. Fairchild is for bitterness, hatred, oppression, confiscation, banishment, Negro domination — anything to torture, harass, or distress the defeated rebels, who laid down their arms on the solemn pledges of Grant and Sherman that so long as they obeyed the Constitution and Laws of the United States they should be protected in their lives and property.

His Excellency would like to make each of the Southern States the counterpart of Tennessee with its infamously tyrannical Bedfordian government.

and for comparing the deficit with the amount the new taxes will bring.

The trouble is the words are at least one year too late. Last year, the President still was saying the nation could afford both guns and butter. The nation cannot be blamed now for recalling what it was told then. And the political division within the country over whether we should be pouring money into Vietnam in the first place makes the President's task even more difficult.

The election year setting for the cuts the President has proposed poses a formidable obstacle. He has, for example, asked for reductions in the politically sensitive areas of farm aids, highways, the space program, college aids, and veterans programs. He has asked for increases for the model cities program and for job training, but these will be met with complaints that they are not enough for our troubled cities.

The nation will close this fiscal year with a deficit of at least $20 billion, a total which must not be repeated. It is difficult to disagree with the President that the income tax increase must be voted regardless of individual doubts about Vietnam.

But the tax increase must be matched with priorities and reduced totals for domestic spending. The President has said this is his duty and the duty of Congress. He is right. But there must be more dedication to this duty than was exhibited in 1967.

insufficient. The man on the street will find even less justification in the case of a man who is a millionaire several times over.

We have a considerable admiration for the new junior senator from Illinois. But we profess a certain understanding of the laws of human nature also. And we assert, albeit reluctantly, that even Sen. Percy might find it difficult in performing his official duties in Washington and in voting on the major and minor issues of the day, to be entirely oblivious to the importunings of a constituent who had had the foresight to write a generous check for the senator's auxiliary office expense fund.

It may be said, with much justification, that the same ethical hazards obtain in campaign financing generally, as shown most notoriously in the revelations about the use for private purposes by Sen. Dodd of Connecticut of money ostensibly contributed to help him in the financing of his campaign. What is sorely needed is a strong code to govern both situations, as well as a total reform of the campaign financing practice laws. And while the subject is under discussion here, the question is pertinent: whatever happened to the code of ethics for Wisconsin legislators that was proposed with such a flourish of trumpeting publicity many months ago?

highly praised, it was his vision and understanding of serious needs that really established his leadership.

Because of the war, almost all HEW programs have received fund slashes that make their effectiveness doubtful. As the applause in President Johnson's State of the Union address indicated, Congress at least thinks that curbing violence in the streets is a more important issue than alleviating the conditions that tend to lead to the violence. In this election year the immediate political impacts of programs will have a lot to do with fund allocations. And because of the war, there just isn't much money especially since there is also congressional reluctance to increase taxes.

Mr. Gardner joins a growing list of able men who are leaving the Administration. Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, Bureau of the Budget Director Charles Schultz, Council of Economic Advisors head Gardner Ackley may be joined by Ambassador to the United Nations Arthur Goldberg. There are also rumors of similar intentions by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Fowler and of Interior Secretary Stewart Udall. Whether the resignations indicate dissatisfaction with the way things are run from Washington, certainly they do show some amount of concern over policies — or the lack of direction in those policies

Kraft Writes
Let's Not Make Same Mistake
In Korea We Made in Vietnam

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

WASHINGTON — The seizure of the USS Pueblo is an outrageous incident which acquires historic importance because it works with the Vietnamese war to promote confrontation between the United States and Russia.

Confrontation, in turn, threatens the kind of Big Two relations which are most in keeping with international order. It threatens a cooperative relationship between Washington and Moscow which may, perhaps, be called Big Twoism.

Big Twoism, of course, does not mean that the two Super Powers order everybody else around. On the contrary, Big Twoism rests on the assumption that the United States and Russia cannot exert tight control over local events.

What they can do is create a framework which makes it possible to manage uncontrollable local forces in a relatively safe way. That pattern found a notable expression in the cease-fire which ended the Arab-Israeli war last spring. It is equally apparent in the settlements which have been made over Cuba, Berlin, and indeed Korea.

SEVERE STRAIN

The war in Vietnam inevitably imposes a severe strain on Big Twoism. For in bombing North Vietnam, the United States is directly assaulting a Communist country headed by a notable leader with strong claims for international assistance.

North Vietnam has not been backward about asserting these claims on the leading Communist nation in the world, Russia. And with the Chinese Communists charging that the Soviet Union is a revisionist country seduced from the Leninist ideal by the United States, Moscow is in a poor position to resist these demands.

In consequence, the Russians have steadily become more deeply engaged in the Vietnamese conflict. The air war in the north, indeed, is largely a fight between sophisticated American and sophisticated Soviet equipment.

The deepening Soviet engagement in Vietnam, moreover, has not been accompanied by a commensurate political leverage. All signs indicate that, while the Russians would like to curb the war, Hanoi refuses to relent. If anything, the spectacle of Moscow paying the piper while Hanoi chooses the tune has tended to weaken Russia's influence in the Communist world.

The Pueblo incident becomes relevant at this point because inside the Communist world North Korea has much in common with North Vietnam. Like North Vietnam, North Korea has designs on an anti-Communist regime in the North Korea also has ties to both Russia and China — indeed a common border with the two countries. And North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung has also used the Vietnamese war as a lever for playing off Peking against Moscow and increasing his bargaining power in both capitals.

REBUFF TO PEKING

Thus, in a rebuff to Peking, he has supported Moscow's plan for "unified action" on behalf of Hanoi. But at the same time he served notice that Moscow's will to stand up to the United States was on trial.

As he put it in a major discourse in October, 1966: "The common struggle against American imperialism is going to trace a clear line between the Marxist-Leninists and the revisionists . . . the true and the false are going to reveal themselves by their actions."

With that kind of pressure being applied, the Russians are in poor position to disengage from North Korea. Moscow has had to go along even with the hijacking of the Pueblo — the kind of action to which the Russians themselves with their much larger fleets of listening ships are especially vulnerable.

All this, of course, does not mean that the North Koreans should be allowed to get away with an act of piracy. But it does suggest that pressure should be applied in a way which works to separate the Soviet Union from North Korea.

For at bottom the Pueblo incident only underlines the growing strain imposed by the Vietnamese war on relations between Russia and the United States. The continuation and expansion of the war advance the power of dissatisfied men everywhere to transgress the limits of reasonable behavior. Wisconsin Report
Broad Outlines of Nelson's Campaign
Already Indicated

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The use of a list of ranking and widely known leaders in outdoors affairs and conservation causes as among the supporters of the re-election candidacy of Sen. Gaylord Nelson is a broad clue to the kind of a campaign the junior Wisconsin United States senator is likely to make in a year that may be difficult for his ticket as a whole.

Wyngaard

Most of these men and women are not ordinarily associated in direct political organization work, whatever their private political orientation.

They announced that they are prepared to work for the re-election of the senator because of his interest in conservation and his work on behalf of conservation causes and objectives during his first term in the Congress.

Revealed here is one of the most envied of the skills, as well as the most effective of the techniques, of the man who in a state normally regarded as Republican has held elective office without interruption for 20 years and is the only politician in two generations who has held the two highest offices on the Wisconsin election ballot.

MORE TO COME

Those who have paid even the slightest attention to Nelson's activities in the Senate know there is more to come in the way of campaign committees that will be difficult for any opponent to counteract.

Who can possibly oppose the idea of congressional attention to the problem of adequately safe motor vehicle equipment, including tires, which has given Nelson a national audience during the last two years and the favorable notice of thousands of Wisconsin residents who ordinarily may not pay much attention to congressional doings, including those who are not normally disposed to vote the Democratic ticket?

Or who will quarrel with the idea of better control of the manufacture and distribution of drugs, in an era of increasing popular concern about health, and in a period when there is an increasing ratio of the aged in the electorate immediately and painfully involved in the cost of medication and health care?

IS MASTER POLITICIAN

To some persons Nelson appears to be an easy going, almost careless fellow. But he is one of the best diagnosticians of Wisconsin political weather now practicing that profession. He knows that he cannot win with Democratic votes only. His own previous experience, starting with the defection of Republicans from their own ticket that brought him his first slight margin of victory in the 1958 gubernatorial election, is keenly remembered and has molded much of his political style since that time.

One of the problems of the Republicans as they contemplate the task of recruiting a respectably strong candidate for their own senatorial nomination is the realization that Nelson's personality and choice of major legislative interests have made it difficult for many Republican voters to oppose him.

The story is told about one prominent community editor, a man of respectable stature and influence in his home town, who recently told colleagues that he hopes that Gov. Knowles won't run against Nelson. For he wants to support both of them this year, he explained. The man's dilemma is not unusual — in the Wisconsin press and elsewhere.

SPEAKS A B O U T CONSERVATION

Nelson's most fortuitous decision in his career — after his upset election as governor — was to emphasize natural resources problems and programs, which have a powerful appeal to thousands of persons and attract attention almost without fail while risking the alienation of no important group of voters. When Nelson ran for re-election as governor, and again when he ran for senator, he sometimes tried to vary his speeches, upon the counsel of his campaign advisors. But he told reporters on the campaign trail repeatedly that he got the best response when he talked about the outdoors, and about the preservation of scenic and recreational resources for posterity.

Having proved the method, he has continued it in Washington and is now generally recognized as the outstanding congressional voice on the subject. Prospective partisan divisions in Wisconsin this year aside, that will prove to be his greatest weapon in a hard campaign for a new term.

Strictly Personal
Opposites Is Fine
Game for Children

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

One of the games I would play with the children when they were young was "opposites" — a simple device of testing their verbal powers by giving them words like "hot" or "wet" and asking them to name the opposite.

Harris

Imagine my surprise when, many years later, I read in a learned journal that this is one important test given by psychologists to determine schizophrenia in the small child: incipient schizophrenics, apparently, have a great deal of trouble in finding true "opposite" words.

At any rate, as the children got older, the words got harder, and before we finally abandoned the game, I had gathered a number of words whose opposites had been lost — they were unknown or never used by most people, except a few musty specialists.

Everybody knows what it is when animals "hibernate," that is, sleep through the winter; but what do we call the opposite, when they sleep through the summer?

Most of us know that a certain type of argumentative writing or speaking is called "polemics"; but what do we call the opposite, when the writing or speaking is designed to reconcile and harmonize viewpoints?

And everybody knows "capital" writing, in which all the letters are separate; but what do we call the opposite, when all the letters in a word are written to run together?

What is the opposite of "central"? Of "zenith"? And if that which must be accepted is "unacceptable," what is that which must be accepted? And what is the opposite of a "didactic" form of education, which drills the student in the subject?

Words vanish or die for many reasons; sometimes they outlive their usefulness, or are replaced by others, or simply hang on limply in negative form — like the "pudent" in "impudent," the "kempt" in "unkempt," the "trepid" in "intrepid," the "ruth" in "ruthless," which at one time were all words in common use.

More surprising is the decline of whole categories of words from the living language — as, in English, we have lost most of the adjectives pertaining to "shapes." Only ardent puzzle-solvers know the words for "needle-shaped," "beard-shaped," "bell-shaped," "ring-shaped," "heart-shaped," "cross-shaped," "wedge-shaped," "sword-shaped," "fork-shaped," "spindle-shaped," "strap-shaped," and many others.

Viet Cong 'Suicide Squad' Attacks Saigon Embassy

Martial Law Proclaimed By President

SAIGON (AP) — A Viet Cong suicide squad perished under fire at the U.S. Embassy today while guerrillas afeld pressed a mosaic of attacks throughout South Vietnam that was costing them 10 men dead for every allied soldier they killed. President Nguyen Van Thieu proclaimed martial law.

As darkness fell, U.S. Army helicopter gunships raked Viet Cong troops trapped at the west end of the Tan Son Nhut airbase. Snipers were reported still firing on parts of the sprawling airbase, some of them only 200 yards away from the new "Pentagon East," U.S. military headquarters of Gen. William C. Westmoreland.

The Communists extended their coordinated lunar new year offensive across the country while concentrating against Saigon their biggest assault of the war on the South Vietnamese capital.

Parts of Saigon became a battleground.

Regain Control

Five Americans and 19 guerrillas were killed before U.S. forces regained control of the embassy compound, scene of the most spectacular in a series of raids in Saigon. Eleven Americans were wounded in the six-hour engagement there.

Gen. Westmoreland said he believed the enemy attacks were a diversionary effort "to take attention away from the northern part of the country." The threat there is a major offensive by North Vietnamese divisions, some already south of the demilitarized zone.

Tanks, artillery and machine-gun fire rattled through the streets. Civilians as well as military personnel fell in the cross-fire.

Thieu called on his people to remain calm. His proclamation of martial law means that the Saigon government will rule by decree until further notice, rather than under the constitution inaugurated last year. He ordered the closing of all places of entertainment but told his people: "Our armed forces have had the situation under control since the very outset."

While peace appeared restored at the embassy, action continued in various parts of downtown Saigon 20 hours after the shelling of the city began, signaling the start of guerrilla action.

Three explosions were heard tonight in the downtown area, and a military spokesman said it was believed mortar fire was responsible. There was also the possibility that it involved allied rather than Viet Cong initiative.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker said the attack in early morning darkness on the new $2.6 million embassy, hailed as terrorist-proof at its dedication last fall, "was obviously premeditated and planned well in advance."

"It is equally clear that this attack was carefully coordinated with similar attacks elsewhere, in the Saigon area and in other populated areas around the country," the 74-year-old diplomat added in a statement. "This callous disregard of the announced truce for the traditional Tet new year holidays through acts of terror and assassination against the civil population of South Vietnam is an accompaniment to the invasion and open aggression of the Northern 1st Corps by North Vietnamese forces directed against South Vietnam. These acts speak for themselves in terms of the enemy's objectives against the people of South Vietnam and their willingness to use the most inhumane methods to achieve them."

Doubts on Truces
Bunker cast doubt on whether there would be further truces in the war. Asked by a newsman whether the allies would ever again agree to a truce, he replied: "I think it is very problematical that we can."

The Viet Cong attacks broke their own proclaimed truce for the Tet period. In a general appraisal of the situation, Bunker said "Certainly none of these attacks have been successful."

"I should think that there would be a great resentment on the part of the population," he said.

Downgrades Importance of Pueblo Crisis

South Korea Opposes Any U.S. Plan To Trade Red Prisoners for Crewmen

SEOUL (AP) — South Korea's foreign minister asserted today that more attention should be paid to the Communist attempt to assassinate President Chung Hee Park than to North Korea's seizure of the USS Pueblo. His remarks were interpreted as an expression of government displeasure with U.S. handling of the current Korean crisis.

The South Korean government will "categorically oppose" any additional U.S. moves to emphasize the Pueblo case in efforts for an over-all settlement of the Korean situation, Foreign Minister Choi Kyu-hah told a news conference.

Choi said his government also will object to any direct bilateral talks between the United States and the North Koreans and to any proposal to exchange the Pueblo crewmen for North Korean infiltrators.

'Firm Measures'

"A basic settlement of the current crisis lies in taking firm measures to assure the security of the Republic of Korea and prevent recurrence of any provocative acts by the North Korean regime," he declared.

The ruling Democratic Republican Party and the opposition Shinmin Party put aside their political squabbles to provide bipartisan support for the Park government in the crisis. The National Assembly went into special session and was expected to adopt resolutions asking for decisive action against North Korea.

In Washington, the White House continued to put heavy stress on diplomatic efforts to free the Pueblo crewmen. Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said after breakfast Tuesday with President Johnson he got the impression Johnson was so hopeful of avoiding military action that there was no talk of a deadline for release of the men.

At the United Nations, a source familiar with U.S. views said he believed the United States would soon abandon its attempt through the United Nations to get the crew released. Security Council members reported no success in their efforts to break a U.S.-Soviet deadlock over an invitation to North Korea to join the council debate.

The most serious of many North Korean infiltrations in recent weeks was the invasion of Seoul Jan. 21 by a 31-man guerrilla squad under orders to kill President Park and other high officials. They were stopped half a mile from Park's residence. South Korean and American troops have so far killed 26 of the intruders and captured 11.

GI Recovering After Removal Of Live Shell

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ten days ago, Pfc. Robert J. Mussari was crouched in a bunker near Khe Sanh, South Vietnam, when the fuse of an 82mm mortar shell lodged in his abdomen.

"There was no pain—just pressure," the 19-year-old Mus-sari recalled Tuesday from his bed at the Philadelphia Naval Hospital.

Corpsmen took Mussari into a bunker with sandbags around it and, in a tense operation illuminated by four flashlights, a doctor, Lt. Edward Feldman, 26, of Forest Hills, N.Y., removed the fuse, which could have exploded at any minute.

Mussari was brought to the hospital here Tuesday and was greeted by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mussari, of Olyphant, Pa., and his girl friend, Sheryl Taylor, 18, also of Olyphant.

On his arrival at the hospital, Mussari said he would be willing to return to Vietnam or go even to Korea if hostilities erupted there.

"I'd do anything they want me to do," he said.

rean crisis included the resumption by North Korea of intrusion attempts in the American sector of the demilitarized zone, an angry anti-Communist rally in Seoul, and reports reaching Washington that one Pueblo crewman was dead but that the others were being properly treated by the Communists.

GIs of the 2nd U.S. Infantry Division repelled four separate intrusion attempts by small bands of North Koreans Tuesday and early this morning, a U.S. military spokesman said. No casualties were reported on either side.

The South Korean Defense Ministry reported that South Korean troops shot and killed one of the 26th member of the 31-man assassination squad early today about 25 miles north of Seoul.

Death Unconfirmed

In Seoul, 200,000 students and citizens burned a huge effigy of North Korean Premier Kim Il-sung and shouted "Down with Kim Il-sung." Three South Korean veterans of the Korean war slashed their fingers during the rally and wrote anti-Communist slogans in blood. Similar rallies were held in Taejeon, Kwangju and other towns across the nation.

The U.S. Defense Department said in Washington that the report of the death of a Pueblo crewman was unconfirmed. But on Jan. 23, the day after the

U. S. Told to Apologize for Pueblo's Act

TOKYO (AP) — A ranking official of a pro-North Korean organization said today he believed North Korea will release the crew of the Pueblo if the United States admits it committed a territorial violation and promises not to repeat the incident.

But Paik Hang-ki, deputy chief of the foreign affairs section of the Federation of Korean Residents in Japan, did not say if his statement represented an official view. Paik, however, noted that North Korea has insisted that the United States apologize for the incident.

Paik told an interviewer he believed that the Pueblo's skipper, Cmdr. Lloyd Mark Bucher, may be an exception. "The captain should be put on trial in accordance with the criminal laws of our country," he said.

7 Die in Pittsburgh Explosion

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An explosion that rocked the business district of suburban Ingram and shook homes a half mile away left seven persons dead, two missing and 17 injured.

Workers at the scene said one man was thrown 90 feet across railroad tracks. Three were hurled against an iron fence 25 feet away by the explosion Tuesday.

What had been a row of five business shops was leveled almost to the street.

The buildings exploded while a 12-man Equitable Gas Co. crew was ripping up sidewalk outside looking for a gas leak. Five of the dead were Equitable workers.

"Who knows what triggered the explosion?" said a gas company spokesman. "Actually, the real cause probably will never be known."

A passer-by, whose car was covered with debris, said the explosion occurred just as a gas company worker started up a jackhammer.

Frank Sulzer, 23, of McKees Rocks, said "It moved my car here?" I told him that's okay, then we'll tell you later. I think he died in the hospital later."

Joe Muck, a volunteer firefighter who lives nearby, was one of the first to the scene. He rushed to the man who was blown across the railroad tracks.

"I wiped blood away from his eyes so he could see," said Muck.

"He kept asking me how did I get here... How did I get here? I told him that's okay, then we'll tell you later. I think he died in the hospital later."

If You Called the Mayor of Bedford, England, Call Again

The mayor of Bedford, England, has a problem and is hoping someone from Appleton may hold the solution.

Some time ago he received a call from a Wisconsin man, who had been stationed at the RAF Base near Bedford during World War II, inquiring how much that area has changed over the years.

The Bedford mayor misplaced the name and address of the caller and is attempting to trace the person.

In the attempt, he recently sent a letter to H. V. Ripp, 2009 N. Douglas St., asking if he had made the call, noting the name of the person was the same as his.

Ripp said he was never in England and made no call. It was a case of mistaken identity.

A check with Mayor George Buckley's office failed to produce any record of a correspondence exchange. Very often the mayor's office is contacted by persons in our country seeking to locate people.

If anyone from the Appleton area did call, the Bedford mayor would like to hear from him again.

Developers, Industrialists Burn Mortgage

$150,000 Financing Helped Start Chilton Metal Product Firm

CHILTON — Mortgage and note burning ceremonies were conducted at the annual meeting of the Chilton Area Development Corporation, Monday evening, at the Hotel Chilton.

A $150,000 note and mortgage held by the corporation for the Chilton Metal Products Company was burned by General Manager Jack Weiland, Jack Kellner, company president, and Don Bonk, corporation president.

The corporation, started in 1958, was requested to raise $150,000 for the Chilton Metal Products. The money was collected within one week.

The metal products firm started with 50,000 square feet of floor space and has grown to 147,500 square feet which includes three additions. The latest expansion covers 40,000 square feet which is used for warehousing but can be converted to plant use when necessary.

40 Employees

The plant started operation with 40 employees and now has a payroll of 325 employees. It is the city's largest employer having paid about $9 million in wages over the 10-year period. The industry also is the largest tax contributor in the city.

The firm manufactures gasoline tanks for the small engine industry, propane torches and injection molded products.

Officers elected at the annual meeting were President Bonk, Vice President George Winkler, Secretary Edward S. Eick and Treasurer William Hedrich. Re-elected to three-year terms on the board of directors were Hedrich, Robert Leach and Ed Sohrweide. The Chilton Area Development Corp. has about 128 members.

Emergency Fire Calls Total 73 in Waupaca

WAUPACA — The Waupaca Fire Department answered 73 emergency calls last year, according to a report submitted Tuesday to the police and fire commission.

Of the calls answered, 32 were within the city limits, 40 were rural. One was a false alarm.

A breakdown of city calls shows grass fires, 11; television, one; commercial buildings, four; residence, five; cars, seven; stoves, three, and one out building. The rural call breakdown is 22 grass fires, one resuscitator, seven home fires, two car fires, one lawn mower fire, six out buildings and one boat fire.

Seventeen of the rural fires were in the Town of Farmington; four in the Town of Dayton; 12 in the Town of Waupaca; three in the Town of Lind and four in the Town of Lanark.

Appleton Not Represented

Criticism of Fox Cities Area Is Likely at Federal Hearing

The Fox Cities region, accused of contributing to the pollution of a Lake Michigan tributary, is likely to come under criticism today at a federal hearing in Chicago.

Recent water pollution hearings conducted by the state Department of Resource Development in Appleton brought out charges and denials that paper mills and municipal treatment plants were causing heavy pollution in the Fox River.

The pollutants, according to witnesses, are going downstream to Green Bay and Lake Michigan.

Public Works Director Frank Keuler of Appleton said Tuesday the city would not be represented at the Chicago interstate water pollution conference.

Four-State Area Keuler thought it would be mostly for representatives of a four-state area, including Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana and Illinois.

The conference was called by Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois with Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall presiding.

U.S. Senator Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., who pushed for the conference, also will attend as will a Wisconsin delegation.

Gov. Warren Knowles will not be at the conference. He is in Israel on a goodwill tour.

The Fox Valley will be affected by the outcome of the conference because the federal government, which has indicated concern over the Lake Michigan pollution danger, will establish a schedule for every city and industry on the lake and its tributaries to meet in controlling and treating their polluted waters.

Compliance with the clean-up orders will be backed by the federal government and the courts, if necessary, municipal and industry officials have been informed.

As result of recent state hearings on water quality control, Appleton was given until

Sporting Goods Taken In Store Break-in at New Holstein Sunday

NEW HOLSTEIN — A break-in at the Depies Firestone Store, 1904 Van Buren St., New Holstein, was discovered Monday morning by an employee, Howard Domke, who opened the store for the day's business.

Investigating city police said entry was gained by breaking a 20 by 18½ foot glass pane in an overhead door.

According to Paul Depies, manager, about $550 was taken in sporting equipment which included three shot guns, three .22 caliber rifles, three boxes of shot gun shells, a 48 pound test archery bow, six field arrows, 55 target arrows and hunting clothing.

Entry is thought to have taken place sometime Sunday evening, as Depies had been in the store Sunday and everything seemed to be in order.

State Consideration Expected

Residents Back Federal Aid For Watershed Near Brillion

BRILLION — State consideration of an application for federal rural land drainage and town assistance for a watershed program in the Brillion Spring Creek area was endorsed Monday by about 40 of its residents.

The application will be considered by the state Soil Conservation Board under the Flood Prevention and Flood Control Law.

Supporting it were city and town officials and farmers living in the area, which includes part of Manitowoc and Calumet counties.

The state board's decision came after a watershed survey here in September and showed that for every dollar spent on the project, $4 in benefits would be realized.

Feasibility study results were given by D. W. Niendorf, conservation education specialist, and G. T. Barber, watershed engineer, both board members.

Flooding Reported

They reported that flooding and effluent disposal from the city sanitary sewer system exist in Brillion.

Surface waters west of Brillion cause problems in agricultural land drainage and town assistance for a watershed program in the Brillion Spring Creek area was endorsed Monday by about 40 of its residents.

A watershed is any land area which contributes run-off to a lake or to a stream at a specific spot. The proposed watershed here houses 130 farms in addition to the urban area and has a total drainage area of about over 18 square miles with the majority in Calumet's Soil and Water Conservation District (SWCD).

The report indicated that it may be possible to control flood water damage by using two detention structures in Brillion.

Alternate Solution

An alternate solution may be using the potential flood detention structure site in the Town of Brillion and construction of a new channel.

The estimated damage benefits, and costs for installation, operation and maintenance of multiple channels for agricultural water management and flood control with one flood detention structure in the watershed were outlined in the report.

A report by Les Neustadter, Plymouth, who is Conservation Department game manager, pointed out that a land purchase program for wildlife habitat has been underway for many years. He said five large areas in Calumet and Manitowoc counties have been planned for wildlife purposes by the Division of Conservation, Department of Natural Resources.

The Brillion marsh is one of the five areas and will be managed for waterfowl and recreation. Neustadter said.

The proposed plan includes a low head dam near the Village of Potter to provide seasonal control of the water level. About 2,400 acres of the total 5,400 already have been purchased by the state.

No Objection

The conservation department has no objection to creek channel improvements, but the landowners in the northeast portion of the proposed area may feel that the land would have a higher value and possibly return it to cropland, he explained. Some of the state land is

Pageant May Be Staged in New London

NEW LONDON — The possibilities of conducting a "Miss New London" or "Miss Waupaca County" pageant in conjunction with the "Miss Wisconsin" program was discussed Monday by the Jaycees and representatives of the state pageant.

Dick Lewis, area field representative, and John Erkal, executive director, presented a local pageant outline and how it is tied in with the statewide contest.

At this time 39 of the 40 openings have been filled by city or regional pageants. Franchises for the event are granted by the state organization based at Oshkosh, site of the annual Miss Wisconsin pageant.

Okay New Dam At Gresham After Long Controversy
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Final approval of the construction of a dam in the Red River in the village of Gresham, Shawano County, has been granted by the State Public Service Commission (PSC) despite extended litigation and a $95,000 boost in the cost of the dam.

The $373,266 project involved the installation of a dam and an integral powerhouse, a 350-kilo-watt water wheel electrical generating unit and an inter-connecting power line.

The commission had approved the construction of the project in July, 1963, but was delayed two additional years while the Federal Power Commission took jurisdiction over the project. Modifications required by the federal agency boosted the cost over the $277,500 level authorized by the state body.

Last October the village notified the state agency that completed cost of the facility had totaled the $373,266 figure.

Mayor Primary Assured for New London

City Attorney Krostue Files Near Deadline

NEW LONDON — A mayoral primary battle was assured late Tuesday as the third candidate, S. W. Krostue, filed his nomination papers shortly before the 5 p.m. deadline.

Krostue, 412 W. Beacon Ave., who has been city attorney for the past 20 years, who was urged to run earlier this month, took out papers at that time but had returned them last week without any signatures.

Seven nomination papers were taken out for Krostue at 4:10 p.m. Tuesday and returned with the required 50 signatures prior to the 5 p.m. deadline.

Filing papers for the city's highest seat Monday were Wilmer D. Schlafer, 914 Dickinson St., and Walter Fredericks, 621 E. Quincy St. Schlafer served as mayor from 1962 to 1966 and Fredericks for the term immediately preceding Schlafer.

Mayor Harry S. Emans announced he would not seek re-election because of illness in his family.

Another surprising development was the filing of papers for Municipal Justice by Ald. Jerome Zaug (1st), Zaug, 207 E. Beacon Ave., withdrew from the 1st Ward aldermanic race.

Zaug took out nomination papers Tuesday morning and filed them about 4:30 p.m. He will oppose O. W. Capener, 701 Dickinson St., an attorney, for the municipal justice seat.

Municipal Justice Charles G. Egli failed to seek re-election to his second full term. Egli was named to the post in 1965 and gained a full term in 1966.

Zaug's action left the aldermanic seat open to C. A. Bauernfeind, 1005 Division St., who is making his first try for an elected post.

For the first time in 20 years Krostue's name will not be on the ballot as a candidate for city attorney. That position has no announced candidate.

Contests for aldermanic seats have developed in the 4th and 5th wards.

Ald. Matt Burton (5th), 310 McKinley St., will be challenged by George Wochinski, 321 N. Shawano St. In the 4th Ward, Frank A. Dobbert, 610 W. Jennings Road, and Donald Allen, 1611 Pershing Road, will vie for the seat held by Ald. Herman Gagnow. Gagnow declined to run because of business reasons.

Incumbents seeking re-election without opposition are Ald. Mrs. Walter Schoenrock (2nd), 505 Wyman St.; M. J. Stewart, 407 S. Shawano St., 2nd ward constable; Ald. Fred Noack (3rd), 1106 Algoma St.; Mrs. Melva Rickaby, 710 W. Beacon Ave., city clerk, and George B. Groher, 1112 Algoma St., treasurer-assessor.

Residents Back Watershed Aid At Brillion

share-cropped with local farmers on a one third to two thirds basis to produce feed for the wildlife. These lands would be aided by drainage improvement, he concluded.

A conservation department report Monday pointed out that conservation interests in this watershed are limited almost entirely to wildlife. The fishery is minor or nonexistent and conservation officials agree that diverting excess waters west of Brillion probably is the most feasible solution.

A steering committee, including Edward Barth, chairman, James Schneider, secretary, Ed Rusch, Clarence Wolf, Ray Kleiber and representatives from the towns of Rantoul and Maple Grove was appointed. The group will work with Bruno Zucolo, Chilton work unit conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service, to prepare an application for planning assistance.

Unanimous Okay

Calumet supervisors on SWCD, headed by Oscar Kossman, unanimously approved the action taken Monday by the 40-member group and vowed to "work with and aid the steering committee in any way possible."

At present, 44 watersheds exist in the state, Barber said. He emphasized this project would take five or six years to realize and urged that a strong educational program be carried out through the county agricultural agent, the conservation education specialist, soil conservation board and cooperating agencies to assure an excellent grass roots program.

The need for a thorough understanding of the state drainage laws is necessary, he said.

The steering committee was advised to rename the watershed project to exclude the words "Spring Creek" to avoid confusion on the federal level, because there are many "Spring" creeks, brooks and rivers.

Free Press-Fair Trial Principles Guard Public's Right to Know

Newspaper Group Lists Guides For Treatment of Crime News

The press of Wisconsin "will recent years regarding the continue to carry out its responsibility to publish news and of rights under the first (free opinions in the public interest," press) and sixth (fair trial) including news of crimes and amendments of the U.S. Constitutional trials, a committee of the Wisconsin Daily Newspaper League said today.

John B. Torinus, editor of The Post-Crescent at Appleton and chairman of the committee which for more than two years has been studying and evaluating the relationship between the constitutional rights of free press and fair trial, made its findings public today.

Torinus said that most of the 31 newspaper members of the Wisconsin Daily Newspaper League have approved the "statement of principles," which resulted from a study conducted in conjunction with other national and other state press associations. Compliance is voluntary.

Similar Studies

Also represented on the committee is the Wisconsin Press Association, which numbers some 300 community papers in its membership.

Similar studies have been conducted in several other states and national press associations, partly as a result of proposals by the American Bar Association, concerned about the right of fair trial, to restrict press access to crime and court news.

The statement follows:

"The study and evaluation in the press and the rights of individuals suspect or accused of crimes, and specifically their rights to trial by impartial jury, the press of Wisconsin submits for all concerned citizens the following statement:

Recognize Responsibility

"1. The press recognizes its responsibility to exercise good judgment in balancing the people's right to know and the public interest with rights guaranteed every citizen as an individual.

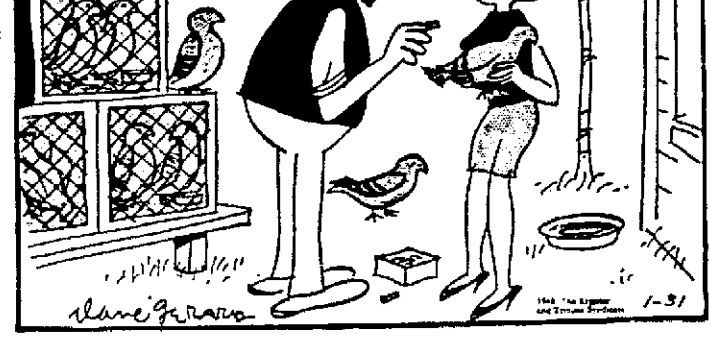

"2. In meeting its responsibility to the public, the press regards it a duty to know at all times how law enforcement officials and the courts are carrying out their duties in the administration of justice, and to print such information, regardless of the impact such printing may have on the public's attitude toward the competence, the fairness, or the failings of such officials.

"3. It is the press' responsibility to resist attempts by bench, bar, law officials and others in and out of government to encroach upon press efforts to exercise free press with solemn regard to the people's right to know as we evaluate it.

Press Has Responsibility

"4. The press has a concurrent responsibility to individuals in protecting their constitutional rights to a fair and impartial trial and to be regarded as innocent until proved guilty.

"5. The press is aware that with the foregoing as a general statement of the rights of jurors. The press believes in integrity of the jury system which presupposes that jurors will render their judgments on guilt or innocence on the basis only of evidence submitted to them in court. Information published in advance of trial is for the purpose of fulfilling the press' responsibility to its reading public, and such information will not be published with any intent to influence a prospective juror or to prejudice the case against any defendant.

"6. News of a suspect's dismissal or acquittal deserves recognition fairly related to any previous publicity involving the case.

Prior Records

"7. News judgments based on the public interest will determine whether to publish a suspect's prior record. The press recognizes that a suspect's prior record, unless a repeated violation is charged, is generally not admissible as evidence in trial prior to verdict, and that this is an area where possible prejudice must be carefully weighed in determining whether it should be reported, especially in close proximity to the time of trial.

"8. Striking an open court statement from the record does not obliterate the public's right to hear it, or the press' right to publish it, but the press recognizes that the time and circumstances of publishing it must be side in the individual's and in the public's welfare.

Recognizes Errors

"The Wisconsin press also recognizes that there have been occasional instances in which the law, the bench, the bar and the press have transgressed through errors in theory and conduct. The performance of the press is a matter of public record in the printed word every day, and thus is subject to critical evaluation by the public. Similar evaluation of the record of the bench, the bar and law enforcement officials can come only through exercise of the freedom of the press with attendant responsibility, fairness and objectivity. The press invites continuing study and evaluation of its performance, fully recognizing that newspapers are the product of human beings who are not infallible."

The league represents 31 Wisconsin daily newspapers and the Wisconsin Press Association, some 300 community newspapers.

Committee members included Austin Bealmear, chief of bureau, Wisconsin Associated Press; Robert Bliss, publisher, Janesville Gazette; John Clifford, publisher, Watertown Times; Ray Doherty, chief of bureau, United Press International, Wisconsin; Lawrence Fitzpatrick, executive editor, Wisconsin State Journal; Madison: Arville Schaleben, a vice president and associate editor, The Milwaukee Journal; Timothy B. Werner, publisher, Sheboygan Press; Henry A. Youmans Jr., publisher, Waukesha Freeman; and Carl Zielke, manager, Wisconsin Press Association. Atty. Wade Boardman, counsel for the daily league, took part in all committee discussions.

Attorney General's Memos Big Help to State Lawmen

Over 300 Agencies Updated on Arrests and Court Decisions

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Without fanfare, a significant new training tool has been handed to the state's law enforcement officers.
And lawmen are eagerly accepting the help.
The attorney general's memoranda to state law enforcement officers, a product of Attorney General Bronson LaFollette and his staff of assistants, have been distributed on a twice a month basis to more than 300 police and law enforcement agencies since the start of his career as the state's attorney three years ago.
Having topped 50, the publications — usually a short three or four page document spelling out the affects of latest court decisions on police practices — are being eagerly accepted by lawmen throughout Wisconsin, according to Deputy Attorney General Arlen C. Christenson.

want every man on their force to receive and read the concise summaries of the affects of the changing law upon their practices and police work.
The attorney general's office, not having anticipated that strong a response, is looking for extra funds for the extra printing project required.
"It became pretty clear when Bronson LaFollette became attorney general that we should do something like this," said Christenson. "The men in the office were concerned with how our staff could be of more assistance to local law enforcement agencies and everyone agreed the way to do that was to keep them posted on new developments in the law," he explained.
The bulletin does just that. Contained are, among many other topics, short explanations of new court rulings and their effect on arrest warrant procedures, the protection of informants and the use of informer's tips, and ranging to the personal liability for the acts of law enforcement officers.

Covered in similar detail are investigation procedures, detention practices, the difficult problems of in-custody interrogation, juveniles court problems, and associated subjects.
The most recent memo deals with the problems raised by court decisions involving the need for search warrants in all municipal inspections.
The spelled out procedures will cause few problems in normal police work, the memo emphasizes, because Wisconsin law enforcement agencies have been following the necessary procedures in the past.
But routine inspections for such things as building, electrical, heating, housing and plumbing code violations are also covered, the memo points out.
When police officers act as such inspectors while on duty or off, they need such warrants to enter another person's property or they need the owner's consent for such inspections the memo makes clear.

U.S. Embassy in S. Vietnam Attacked by Enemy Terrorists

Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 171 Americans and 330 South Vietnamese were wounded.

There was no estimate of civilian casualties but apparently they were heavy.

Millions of dollars of damage was done to U.S. aircraft and other facilities in the shelling of nine American air bases including Bien Hoa just north of Saigon, the biggest American fighter base in South Vietnam and the Marine fighter base at Chu Lai below Da Nang.

On Second Floor

A wounded guerrilla reached the second floor of the quarters of U.S. Mission coordinator George Jacobson, 56, who lives on the embassy grounds. Jacobson killed him with a pistol thrown up to his window by a soldier who wounded the guerrilla downstairs.

Nineteen guerrillas were found dead when the embassy was declared secure at 9:30 a.m. One prisoner was taken away and another wounded one was carried out. U.S. officials said five American soldiers were killed and 11 wounded and incomplete but spokesmen said allied forces had killed 2,643 Communists troops across the country in the 48 hours before noon today. Preliminary reports said 68 Americans and 178 South Vietnamese were killed in the fight for the embassy.

No casualties were reported among paratroopers of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division who landed by helicopter on the roof of the six-story embassy and raced down through the building to help finish off the Viet Cong squad.

New Nuclear Missile Warheads Unperfected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The One AEC weapons official United States disclosed today said prototypes of all the newest much work remains to be done missile have been tested on its newest nuclear missile clearly and we are sure of the warheads.

But officials voiced confidence remain to produce "real reliable hardware" capable of being used by the armed forces when newly expanded plants are opened to handle the work.

Expansion of the weapons production plants is expected to be completed by late 1971.

The official did not say whether some production might be possible in some plants prior to 1971.

But he said in answer to questions it's conceivable further improvements could be made in the missiles in the meantime.

Peaceful Uses

Typical word of the big Red the missiles came in a report in which the AEC said the dominant highlight of the nation's atomic energy program in 1967 concerned the peaceful uses of the atom.

The commission said this was the surge toward greater use of nuclear power to meet the nation's electricity needs of the future.

The Johnson administration's advance information that American installations in Saigon might be attacked during the lunar new year celebrations although not specifically the enemy was scheduled for base. One official said there are perhaps 1,000 U.S. installations in Saigon.

War Strategists See Assault Building

City Attacks Meant to Weaken Border Vigilance

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Some U.S. military analysts say the synchronized Viet Cong assaults against Saigon and other South Vietnamese population centers aim at forcing a pull-back of American troops from the key border sector where North Vietnamese regulars have been massing.

They suggested the attacks, hitting eight widely spaced cities and towns, also were intended to impress on the South Vietnamese people that the Communist guerrillas are still to be reckoned with.

The military specialists spoke against a background of obvious high-level U.S. government concern over the bold Viet Cong strikes particularly in Saigon against the U.S. Embassy.

The White House called the Saigon outbreak "pretty serious" and said President Johnson was receiving periodic reports on it.

The State Department interpreted the rash of assaults as a major effort to subject large numbers of the Vietnamese people to maximum terror and intimidation.

Military officers say the Viet Cong assault, sprung by suicide squads, appears part of the Communist winter-spring offensive, which also has featured North Vietnamese thrusts and probes from North Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos.

The all plan is regarded by some observers as a Communist bid to score territorial and battlefield gains in advance of possible peace talks.

A major North Vietnamese assault has been expected for weeks against Khe Sanh, a strategic strong point in the northwest corner of South Vietnam.

Some officers said U.S. cancellation of a lunar New Year truce along the Demilitarized Zone may have crossed up North Vietnamese plans to hit Khe Sanh and possibly other important points when American troops were not expecting enemy attack.

The U.S. Command has been building up troop strength to protect against any massive North Vietnamese drive in South Vietnam's northernmost DMZ area.

Sources said combined U.S. and South Vietnamese manpower there now totals as high as 68,000.

Heavy Buildup
Meanwhile, the North Vietnamese reportedly have positioned four and possibly five regular divisions totaling 40,000 or so soldiers in the DMZ near Khe Sanh.

Pentagon sources said that

Subversive Activities Board Gets New Life

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Subversive Activities Control Board may be coming back to life after two dormant years, nourished by a law some senators had hoped would put it out of business.

The board scheduled its first hearing in two years for Monday in New York to explore the U.S. attorney general's contention that the W.E.B. DuBois Clubs of America are "substantially directed, dominated and controlled by the Communist Party."

The DuBois organization asked for a delay in the hearing until Feb. 26 and it's expected to be granted.

Budget Boost

There is a 38 per cent budget boost of $117,000 for the SACB in the spending program President Johnson has sent Congress, and it carries this explanation: "Increase will permit implementation of legislation enacted on Dec. 14, 1967."

That legislation provided the five-member agency with new Communist-spotting duties to supplant functions ruled unconstitutional by the Supreme Court.

The board, 17 years old, was set up to identify and register Communists. But Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said in recent Senate debate on its future the agency "failed to register a single Communist in its vapid history."

The bill, empowering the board to hold hearings and declare groups to be Communist dominated or controlled, was proposed by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and sent to the Senate without hearings. Proxmire and a bloc of Senate liberals fought it for a week, then won adoption of an amendment requiring the agency to do something or expire.

It cleared Congress with a requirement that the board hold at least one hearing in the next year, and institute at least one proceeding, or face abolition.

The controversy surrounding the SACB wasn't limited to charges it didn't accomplish anything. Last year, President Johnson appointed Simon F. McHugh, husband of a former Johnson secretary, as a board member, with a $26,000 salary.

Opponents charged McHugh wasn't qualified for the job.

Woman Killed in Portage Accident

An elderly Portage County woman was killed Monday night when she was struck by an automobile.

Mrs. Martha Tomaschewski, 60, of route 1, Custer, was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Michael's Hospital in Stevens Point following an accident about 7:20 p.m. Monday. Portage County authorities said she was walking across County Trunk Z, just south of State 66, when she was hit by a car.

Hospitalized Governor To Get Bed That Fits

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon rested comfortably Tuesday in a Salem hospital.

There was no change in his physical condition since he entered the hospital Monday with virus pneumonia.

But a spokesman for the governor said there will be a physical change in his room.

The governor, who is 6 feet, 5 inches tall, was given a 6-foot, 6-inch bed. The hospital has agreed to find him a 7-foot bed as soon as possible.

It Costs $6.75 Per Mo.
ONLY

"For the sake of the American taxpayers and for all the American people, I hope the SACB will go out of business on June 30, 1969," Proxmire said as the measure passed the Senate. He said the board has cost the taxpayers $5 million and has not accomplished a thing.

The DuBois hearing would appear to fulfill at least half the conditions for the board's continued existence holding at least one hearing.

But Proxmire said "it will fail totally to meet the requirement for the instituting of a proceeding," because the case was instituted in 1966.

He argued the hearing alone will not keep the board going, that it must come up with something new in 1968 or expire.

But Dirksen called the DuBois case a proceeding "that can run on and on."

"So the board is in business," he said.

THE PENNEY STORY

Should you throw away your iron or keep it as a door stop?

By ROBERTA NASH

Perhaps your iron isn't obsolete just yet. But with Penn-Prest, most women never iron at all. They just let their dryer do the ironing.

(Of course, if you haven't a tumble dryer, you may have to touch up in some cases. But just a touch up.)

Please don't confuse Penn-Prest with some other 'permanent press' process that may have disappointed you. This one is different.

The J. C. Penney Company stands behind it.
